

Senate Foes of Roosevelt Bill Concede They Can't Kill It

Vote on Reorganization Plan Due Monday

PASSAGE FORECAST

Barkley and Byrnes Predict Approval For Measure

Washington—(AP)—Defeated consistently on proposed amendments, some senate foes of the administration's government reorganization bill conceded today they lacked the votes to kill the measure.

A vote on a motion to recommit the bill to committee, a step which would effectively pigeon-hole it—has been set for Monday.

Some opponents of the measure said privately that unless there was a shift of sentiment by Monday, the recommitment motion would fail. Senators Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, and Byrnes (D-S.C.), author of the bill confidently predicted its passage.

Senator Clark (D-Mo.), an opponent, asserted, however, that he was "very hopeful" the bill would be shelved.

Two Parts Approved

Two portions of the bill—creation of a welfare department and authorization for employment of six presidential assistants—already have been approved in the house.

Enactment of the broad reorganization program would give the administration its fourth major law of the session. Already, the farm, housing and emergency relief bills have won legislative approval.

The next big administration bill—tax revision—has undergone a week's buffeting in the senate finance committee and now bears little resemblance to the revenue measure approved by the house.

Several administration lieutenants in the senate said there was powerful support for the bill, and that the committee recommendations and that the bill finally enacted was unlikely to be in accord with administration recommendations.

Predict Passage

The billion-dollar naval expansion bill, which already has house approval, also is expected to encounter heavy going in the senate, although most observers expect its eventual approval. Many senators are proud for discussion of the administration's foreign policy.

Leaders agreed that the wage and hour bill, which administration followers in the house are seeking to revive, stands only a 50-50 chance of enactment at this session.

President Roosevelt's speech at Gainesville Ga., this week reiterated his desire for such legislation. Some administration supporters interpreted it as a bid for action at once.

Another of President Roosevelt's recommendations—a regional planning—has slight chance of enactment. A house committee only recently began consideration of it.

TVA Probe

The senate approved a resolution yesterday for a joint senate-house inquiry into the Tennessee Valley authority's administration and this probably will be acted on in the house Wednesday.

Messages from President Roosevelt still are expected on methods of relieving debt-ridden railroads, proposals to put government controls on the bank holding company structure and an anti-monopoly program. He also is expected to send a message on the world phosphate situation.

Nevertheless, congressional leaders still are hopeful that the session will end between May 15 and June 1.

16 Die as Gale Sweeps Northern Norway Coast

Tromsø, Norway—(AP)—Sixteen persons were known to be dead and many others were missing today after a gale of northern Norway sank several fishing boats.

A Norwegian government fishery protection vessel rescued 21 men from the sealing ship Isfjell, which had drifted in pack ice for five days. The Isfjell lost her propeller Monday in a hurricane.

Well, That's What Women Say

"The keys to man's heart are praise and meek service," says Dr. L. Morgan Chambers, and here's a dissenting opinion, as the lawyers say. Praise doesn't go to the average man's heart. It goes straight to his head, where all's swell that sounds well. And as to meekness, that depends on the cut. A well served uppercut hardly ever makes him crave a second helping. Now, our idea of a quick way to any heart, male or female, is through a classified want-ad that fetches as neat a result as did this one from The Post-Crescent:

LAWRENCE ST., W. 1323 — Modern 4 room house. Bath and garage. Rent $25. Tel. 9645NR3.

Rented immediately. Had 30 or more calls.

Norris Says Congress Can Complete TVA Quiz Before Close of Present Session

Washington—(AP)—Senator Norris (R-Nebr.) said today he thought a congressional investigation of the Tennessee Valley authority could be completed before congress adjourns.

"There is no reason why it cannot be so organized that a report will be ready before adjournment," the white-haired Nebraskan said.

Some others in congress among both critics and supporters of TVA were less hopeful, however, of that speed.

Senate Majority Leader Barkley of Kentucky has predicted adjournment by May 15. This would allow little more than a month for the TVA inquiry if the report is to be ready before that date.

May Drop Hearings

Administration leaders said the house probably would vote Tuesday or Wednesday on investigating TVA. Chairman O'Connor (D-NY) of the rules committee has called hearings for Monday on all resolutions for investigation of the agency, including that adopted by the senate yesterday.

Some committee members said there was a possibility, however, that the proposed hearings would be dropped.

Norris predicted the house would approve the senate resolution which provides for a joint committee—five from the senate and five from the house—to make the investigation. He also said he expected the president would sign it promptly.

Blocks 2 Appointments

Speculation was rife as to who would be named to the committee. The resolution left unrestricted appointment powers in the hands of Vice President Garner and Speaker Bankhead.

Norris asserted his strategy in refusing to serve because he was the author of the original resolution had blocked appointment of Senators King (D-Utah) and Bridges (R-NH), TVA critics who also offered resolutions.

Norris expressed confidence the investigation would fail to disclose "any fraud or dishonesty" on the part of the three directors, whose embittered quarrel led to President Roosevelt's dismissal of Dr. Arthur E. Morgan as chairman.

Attorney Exonerated In Oatman Arson Case

Oshkosh—(AP)—District Attorney Louis C. Magnusen announced today that Rodney Alder, Oshkosh attorney, had been completely exonerated of any complicity in the arson case of E. F. Oatman, a suicide.

Magnusen said he had made a thorough investigation of Alder's association with Oatman, who pleaded guilty to prying arson and then ended his life by swallowing poison, and that he had reported to Circuit Judge Clayton F. Van Pelt, Fond du Lac, that he felt Alder was innocent.

A letter from Judge Van Pelt today, Magnusen said, stated that the court agreed with his findings. Magnusen said that Alder had been a victim of peculiar circumstances in that all the testimony in the case had not been brought out at the time Oatman ended his life March 4.

Sabotage Suspected in New Zealand Rail Wreck

Wellington, New Zealand—(AP)—At least six persons were killed and 30 injured in a railroad wreck today in which authorities suspected sabotage.

The accident occurred about 20 miles south of Wanganui when the train, carrying 180 passengers, jumped the rails and telescoped the first four coaches.

Support Given In Europe to Refugee Plan

Democratic Nations of Europe Apparently Favor Proposal

REPLIES AWAITED

Britain and France Give Consideration to Hull's Suggestions

London—(AP)—The United States' proposal that European and American governments cooperate in affording political refugees a haven appeared today to have met a favorable reception in Europe.

While reports from Vienna told of several thousand Austrians—mostly Jews—storming the United States consulate for visas to flee abroad, a preliminary survey of reaction to the United States relief proposal indicated:

That Europe's liberal and democratic nations favored the proposal and that no obstacle to carrying it out had been encountered officially so far.

The British government promised to give its immediate attention to the proposal, which Secretary Hull dispatched to nine European governments and all of the American republics.

The French press gave prominent display to the story and the government said it would send Secretary Hull a favorable reply soon.

Switzerland was counted among the most interested countries because Austrian refugees have been pouring across its borders for days. Scandinavian countries gave sympathetic attention to the United States suggestion.

In Brussels, officials declared Belgium was ready to cooperate fully with the United States in forming an international committee to help solve the problem.

Italy, however, remained silent and nothing officially was heard about Secretary Hull's suggestion in Austria. Germany ignored it, since Reichsfuehrer Hitler's government was not made a party to the proposal.

Consider Stand on Extradition Plea

Loomis to Confer With Illinois Governor on Question

Madison—(AP)—Attorney General O. S. Loomis announced today he will consult the governor of Illinois to settle the question whether this state may legally order the removal of Jerome Welsh from Racine to Waukegan, Ill., to answer a murder charge.

Acting at the request of Governor Philip LaFollette, the attorney general said he wanted to ascertain whether the state of Illinois had authority to issue requisition papers for Welsh, who said he was not in Illinois at the time of the crime.

Welsh, now under arrest at Racine, is wanted in connection with the slaying of William Hancock, wealthy farmer at Antioch, Ill., in April, 1932.

After an extradition hearing this week, Deputy Attorney General Leo Vandreville informed Governor LaFollette he did not believe Welsh legally could be ordered removed.

Attorney General Loomis said an important technical question is involved because of the filing of an affidavit by Welsh's attorneys that he was not at Waukegan and the admission of Illinois officials they have no proof that Welsh was present when the crime was committed.

Welsh's counsel claimed there had been no showing that the prisoner was a fugitive and that such a showing is necessary under Illinois and federal law.

Self-Liquidating RFC Loans Asked

Glass Says President Has Asked Congressional Sanction

Washington—(AP)—President Roosevelt, Senator Glass (D-Va.) said today, has requested that congress give the Reconstruction Finance Corporation authority to make self-liquidating public works loans.

He asked also that the agency be granted additional latitude in financing business and industry.

Glass made public a letter from Jesse Jones, RFC chairman, in which Jones said he was authorized by the president to ask for new legislation.

Jones asked that the RFC law be changed to permit loans to business maturing over a longer period than now allowed.

He proposed amendments which he said would "give us somewhat broader powers in financing business and industry where credit is not otherwise available."

The emergency relief act of 1932 authorized the RFC to make self-liquidating loans to public bodies, but the authority was rescinded by the act of the Trenton group, tried unsuccessfully to control the meeting as an unwelcome audience shout of boos and catcalls.

The demonstration, which Mrs. L. Victor Snyder, chairman of the Trenton branch of the Peace and Democracy league, said had been planned for several days, frustrated the efforts of Gustave William Kunze of New York, national bund organizer, to speak.

Hissed and booed, Kunze left the speakers' stand, and when Othmer announced that "we'll try again later on," Fred Gray, secretary of the Mercer County Communist party, took over the meeting and, along with a dozen persons, including Mrs. Snyder, attacked the bund.

Senator Thinks Roosevelt Can Force Reduction in Armaments of World

Washington—(AP)—Senator Bone (D-Wash.) suggested today that President Roosevelt might use the proposed $1,000,000 naval expansion program to effect a reduction in world armaments.

Bone, a member of the senate naval affairs committee, said it appeared "entirely logical" to him that the president, armed with the authorization for a huge increase in the navy, might be able to obtain agreements with other powers to delay or halt naval building.

The expansion bill, already passed by the house, will be taken up by the senate committee at closed meetings Tuesday.

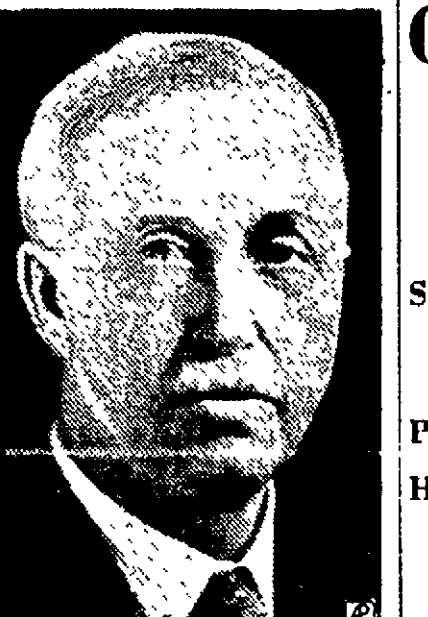

Bone said he doubted that all of the construction the measure would authorize would be carried out if the bill were enacted in its present form.

"The cost of such a program would be terrific," he said. "When the navy starts getting bids and they run to $2,000 a ton or some such figure, people are going to be staggered by the prospective cost."

The Washington senator is an advocate of naval construction in public shipyards and said he would attempt to amend the bill to require this.

Opponents of the measure admitted they had little hope of altering it in committee and said their fight would be made on the floor of the senate.

Sensors Borah (R-Idaho), LaFollette (P-Wis.), Clark (D-Mo.), Nye (R-N.D.) and others have expressed opposition to the bill.

EX-JUDGE DIES

Wausau—(AP)—Judge A. H. Reid, 74, who retired from the circuit court bench last month, died this morning at Rochester, Minn., where he had been at the Mayo clinic for three weeks. He had been in ill health for more than a year. Funeral services will be held here Tuesday afternoon.

Appointed to the judgeship in 1908, he had served continuously up to his recent retirement.

Born in Dodge county, Reid was a graduate of the University of Wisconsin Law school and practiced law in Merrill for 18 years before his appointment to the bench.

Roosevelt Scans Data on Proposed Rail Legislation

President Refuses to Outline Recommendations in Detail

Warm Springs, Ga.—(AP)—President Roosevelt studied the report of his committee on emergency railroad legislation today, but withheld details on its recommendations.

The report was prepared by Chairman Walter M. W. Splan and Joseph B. Eastman and Charles D. Mahaffie of the interstate commerce commission and sent her by air mail. The president said it would be made public next week in Washington.

When he created the committee 10 days ago he said he wanted "complete, definite and factual" proposals that could be taken up for immediate action by congress. At that time he described the situation as "critical."

Observers regarded it as virtually certain that the report proposes some method of speeding reorganization of the financially distressed carriers in view of Splan's statement that more than 30 per cent of railroad mileage now is being operated under court protection and receiverships, with more threatened by bankruptcy.

Hints of Mergers

Splan also had given a hint of what the report might say on consolidations by disclosing that all participants in the White House conference that led to appointment of the three-man committee agreed that "major" railroad economies could be accomplished only by compulsory mergers.

In this event, the government would be expected to take care of workers losing their jobs.

Chinese Army Rallies To Stop Jap Advances

Shanghai—(AP)—The reorganized Chinese army, beaten back for months, had turned today and was winning victories on several fronts.

The widely-extended Japanese invaders were stopped cold in the Wuhu and Hangchow sectors west and southwest of Shanghai, while in the bloody central China war zone they were subjected to heavy losses.

Cut Down on Speed, Plea to Motorists

Madison—(AP)—The state highway commission today issued this cryptic warning to motorists:

"At 40 miles an hour, one accident in 35 is fatal; at 50 miles an hour one accident in 11 is fatal; if you're planning a trip this weekend, start an hour earlier, drive 10 miles an hour slower than usual and stop when you become tired."

The commission termed last weekend the "first of the traffic slaughter season." It cost four lives in the state.

Goering Goes To Vienna to Gain Support

Seeks 100 Per Cent Approval for Annexation of Austria

PROGRAM AWAITED

Hitler's Lieutenant Expected to Announce Economic Plans

Vienna—(AP)—Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering tonight announced the circumstances of former Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg's cancelled "swindle" plebiscite—the immediate cause of Hitler's entry into Austria—will be aired in court.

"This plebiscite fake will come before the courts," Goering told 30,000 people packed into the North-west railway concourse, referring to the vote Schuschnigg had scheduled just before nazi threats forced him out of the chancellery.

"We shall prove to the world that democracy was suppressed. It was a plain swindle."

"God did not let the fuhrer come into the world for nothing. He had a high mission.... The Austrian government had suppressed the people with foreign bayonets," the number 2 nazi chieftain declared.

Goering then referred to the Feb. 12 meeting of Reichsfuehrer Hitler and former Chancellor Schuschnigg at Hitler's Bavarian mountain retreat, Berchtesgaden, in which the fuhrer sought to bargain with Schuschnigg.

"In Berchtesgaden Schuschnigg was put under pressure only of his own conscience and nothing else....," Goering declared.

"None of Schuschnigg's supporters died for their convictions but some fled with the cashbox. Their action was as cowardly as it was cruel."

"The tyrant was swept away and our troops marched in as brothers of a liberated people. Our planes did not fly into Austria to drop bombs but to bring the fraternal greetings. The fuhrer followed."

"The world will soon realize that Austria was happy because of our action and not suppressed as so often stated by the foreign press."

"Even so some powers made menacing gestures of resort to force. But don't worry. Stupid people will never die out."

"Foreign statesmen were misinformed."

Goering inveighed against international pacifism which he blamed for unemployment.

Economic planning, he said, has resulted in a demand for workers and Germany has become self-sufficient.

Hitler Will Not Change His Stand

'What We Once Possess We Will Never Surrender,' He Says

Koenigsberg, Germany—(AP)—The world's fiercest dictator today declared that Hitler had set his course and no power in the world could induce him to leave his chosen path.

The German chancellor launched his nationwide plebiscite tour in this far eastern corner of greater Germany yesterday with the firm avowed assertion:

"If we once possess we will never under any circumstances surrender."

Nazi party wigs joined the fuhrer today in his campaign to convince the masses that his action of March 13—resulting in Austrian union with Germany—was the "fulfillment of a thousand-year-old dream."

Fifteen hundred meetings in two weeks was the projected campaign tempo set for Franconia province so that the "last person in the last hamlet in the most isolated spot shall know what the issue is."

Julius Streicher, a leader of the anti-Semitic campaign, is the Franconia district leader.

In his Koenigsberg speech Hitler shouted:

"If the world is dead to all pleas for justice, then the reich (German government) must take justice into its own hands."

Justifying annexation of Austria, he declared thousands of nazis left that country rather than give up their faith in Germany's future.

The crowd greeted with laughter his saying that he had offered to run against Schuschnigg in an open Austrian election.

Green Bay Couple Loses In Suits for Damages

Green Bay—(AP)—A verdict for the defendant was returned in circuit court here this morning in the suit of Mrs. Sarah Petrasek and her husband, Joseph Petrasek, against the Northern Packer corporation, operators of the Columbus club. Damages of $10,000 were sought for injuries received by Mrs. Petrasek in 1937 when she slipped on a cake of soap and fell while taking a shower bath at the club. She sued for $5,000 and her husband asked a like sum for medical care and the loss of her services.

The jury found that the shower was not safe within the meaning of the law, but that the club's negligence was only 15 per cent and Mrs. Petrasek's 85 per cent.

Since she was more than 50 per cent negligent, she does not recover and her husband's claim also is disallowed.

Tavernkeepers Report They are Victimized

Green Bay—(AP)—Green Bay tavernkeepers today complained to police of being victimized in a punch board "racket." A stranger, about 6 feet 3 inches tall, would sell them at an advantageous price, a punch board obligating the tavern man to pay up to 25 to 1 in cash for winning punches. After the sale was made, another stranger, about 5 feet 10 inches, would come in, punch the winning numbers, and collect.

"If they fall for an old racket like that, it serves 'em right," commented Inspector H. J. Bero of the Green Bay police department. The punchboard are illegal in any event, he pointed out.

Fascist Gains Indicate Early End of Strife

RETAINS POSITION

Washington—(AP)—A woman has the responsibility of taking care of Uncle Sam's $12,780,000,000 in gold. She is Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross (above), whose nomination for a second five-year term as director of the mint was confirmed by the senate yesterday.

Mrs. Ross, former governor of Wyoming, commented briefly on her reappointment: "I am grateful for the confidence that is implied." As the first woman to head the mint, Mrs. Ross looks after the largest gold hoard in the world.

Try to 'Unfreeze' Capital Through Easing Taxation

Committee Members Say Levies Ban Dissolution Of Holding Firms

Washington—(AP)—The senate finance committee studied today the possibility of "unfreezing" investment capital by easing taxes which members said were preventing dissolution of many personal holding companies.

Senator George (D-Ga.) asserted that "hundreds of millions of dollars now are frozen" in personal holding companies.

At present, he explained, personal holding companies can not feasibly be liquidated because taxes eat up most of the cash which might be distributed to stockholders.

"They are now paying very high rates," he continued. "We are trying to find some fair basis for dissolution under which the taxes would be shifted from the company to the shareholders themselves."

George said committee members sought to curtail the taxes on personal holding companies, encourage the distribution of their assets to stockholders and then tax stockholders at the regular income tax rates on their share of the funds received.

After a broad investigation into "tax evasion and avoidance" a joint congressional committee last summer recommended higher rates on personal holding companies. These rates subsequently were enacted. The rates now range up to about 70 per cent.

The finance committee already has stricken out the undistributed profits tax and overhauled the capital gains levy in the house-approved revenue bill.

Spanish Republican Government Weakened Steadily

PROTEST IN FRANCE

Workers in Paris Press For End of Non-Intervention

By the Associated Press

Insurgent forces welded into a front 125 miles wide, rolled over northeastern Spain today—a juggernaut aimed to crush the Barcelona government—while French workers massed to protest "diabolical prolongation of the tragedy" of non-intervention in Spain.

It seemed the last days of the Spanish republican regime were being checked off by strafing and bombing planes and artillery, tank and infantry assaults.

Ahead of the northern wing of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's wall of men and steel lay rich Catalonia and Barcelona, the latter some 120 miles to the east, while between the southern wing and the government seaboard there was a neck land only 40 miles wide.

A slice through this neck would dismember government Spain and perhaps end the 20-months-old civil war.

Senate Is Target

The French General Confederation of Labor ordered its Paris membership out today for a monster demonstration not only to press for an end to French non-intervention in Spain but to protest against senate opposition to Premier Blum "and above all the policy of provocations and resistance of employers to collective contracts."

Labor already was demonstrating its support of Blum—perhaps to the socialist leader's embarrassment—by "stay-in" strikes in which nearly 30,000 workers were taking part.

In Britain, Prime Minister Chamberlain retired for a weekend Sunday from the related problems presented by labor opposition to his "sit tight" foreign policy and the necessity of gaining labor cooperation to speed rearmament.

Assail Chamberlain

The central organization of British labor, the National Council of Labor, related problems presented by labor opposition to his "sit tight" foreign policy and the necessity of gaining labor cooperation to speed rearmament.

Reichsfuehrer Hitler, his No. 1 aide, Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, and other nazi functionaries were barnstorming through the greater Germany in the campaign for "ja" votes in the April 10 plebiscite on Hitler's Austrian coup.

At Koenigsberg last night Hitler warned the world that his course could not be altered but there was no specific mention of its direction. He will speak tonight at Leipzig and Goering will speak in Vienna. China's defenders reported victories in several sectors today after months of almost interrupted defeat at the hands of Japanese invaders on the Yangtze valley and central fronts.

Severe fighting continued in perhaps the most important sector, southern Shantung province, where for a week Japanese assault troops have been trying to cross the Grand canal to attack Suhow, one of the vital centers of the central front.

INSURGENTS ADVANCE

Frontier in Retreating Government Troops were Machine-Gunned from the Air today as they were driven from the Aragon by an insurgent army bent on conquering Catalonia and forcing a quick end to the Civil war.

Insurgent warplanes repeatedly strafed the shanty towns where forces after artillery blasted them out of defense lines between Huesca and Pina in the northern sector.

A huge chunk of territory, including the Alcebrerie mountains north of the Ebro river, fell into insurgent hands as two of General Francisco Franco's field armies—

Radio Operator in Appeal for Help; Captain 'Abusive'

San Pedro, Calif.—(AP)—The radio operator of a tuna clipper off the Mexican coast who reported he feared "death aboard soon," was instructed today to request assistance from Mexican authorities.

San Pedro, Calif.—(AP)—United States Shipping Commissioner A. L. Woodruff appealed to navy officials today to send aid to a motorship whose radio operator, in a terse message to the coast guard here, said the captain was "abusive and apparently insane."

"Fear death aboard soon," read the terse message from the large tuna clipper. The ship's position was given as near Tortuga Island off Mexico. It is of United States registry.

The coast guard said an agreement with Mexico prevented it sending American ships more than 250 miles south of the international border.

Woodruff asked Rear Admiral Sinclair Gannon, commander of the Eleventh Naval district at San Diego, to send a navy ship to investigate.

Labor Opposition Provides Problem For Chamberlain

Prime Minister Hopes for Support for Re-Armament Program

London — (V) — Prime Minister Chamberlain retired for a long weekend today to study the disquieting dual problem of staunch labor opposition to his foreign policy and the necessity of getting cooperation of the same group to speed up re-armament.

The national council of labor, central body of British labor, yesterday declared continuance in office of Chamberlain's conservative government a "grave menace to the peace of Europe" and demanded an immediate meeting of the league of nations assembly to consider "apportionment" of European problems.

Chamberlain's attitude, the council declared, was a "cynical disregard of the need for defending democracy."

At the same time the group, backbone of the opposition labor party, was believed willing to join a three-cornered conference among government, employers and employees to produce armaments on a tremendously accelerated scale.

It common lobbies it was rumored the government's proposed armaments increase might reach 50 percent, raising the current $7,500,000 five-year program to $11,250,000,000.

Labor's cooperation—necessary to Chamberlain if he succeeded in the armament speed-up—would be given, reliable sources said, because Chamberlain had impressed labor leaders with private information that Britain was arming solely against Germany.

Will Ask Cooperation

The prime minister and Sir Thomas Inskip, defense coordinating minister, went ahead with plans for a meeting Monday with the national confederation of employers' organizations. At this meeting they intended to ask the cooperation of employers.

The next step would be employer-employee discussions, with the government acting as a referee.

In parliament labor members maneuvered to make a request on Monday for a full commons debate on foreign affairs, in which their political demands would be set forth, the possibility the government's industrial mobilization scheme would be discussed.

Accused Couple Pleads Not Guilty at Spooner

Spooner, Wis. — (V) — Everett Phinn, 52-year-old woodsman, and Mrs. Phoebe Whaley, 45, were bound over to circuit court yesterday for trial in April on adultery charges, following their questioning in the slaying of Raymond Washkuhn, 17, a boarder at the Whaley home.

Mrs. Whaley pleaded guilty on arraignment before Municipal Judge Byron L. Kimball and was placed under $3,000 bond. Phinn waived preliminary hearing and his bond was set at $4,000. Neither could furnish bail.

Prior to arraignment Sheriff Robert H. Willis said Mrs. Whaley had made a signed statement accusing Phinn of killing Washkuhn. He said there was "no question" but that a murder warrant would be issued against the man. Phinn declared the accusation was a frame-up.

Washkuhn was fatally wounded by a 22 calibre bullet last Monday night when he attempted to investigate the source of two shots fired into the Whaley home. The sheriff said Phinn considered the boy a rival for Mrs. Whaley's affections.

Japanese Destroying All Chinese Villages Which Harbor Communist Forces

BY JAMES D. WHITE

With the Communist Army in North China — (V) — The Japanese army's answer to Chinese red guerrilla raids along railway and communication lines in North China is complete destruction of all villages suspected of harboring these "bandits."

General Yu-Cheng Taso, commander of China's "red" army in Hopoh province, declares that more than 200 villages have been burned in the past month, with extensive loss of life.

Accounts of the burning of nearly 100 such villages were obtained by the Associated Press from persons witnessing the fires.

It has been conservatively estimated that 2,500 Chinese farmers have been killed, 3,000 wounded and about 40,000 driven into mountain refuges or forced to flee into "red" territory.

Burn Three Daily

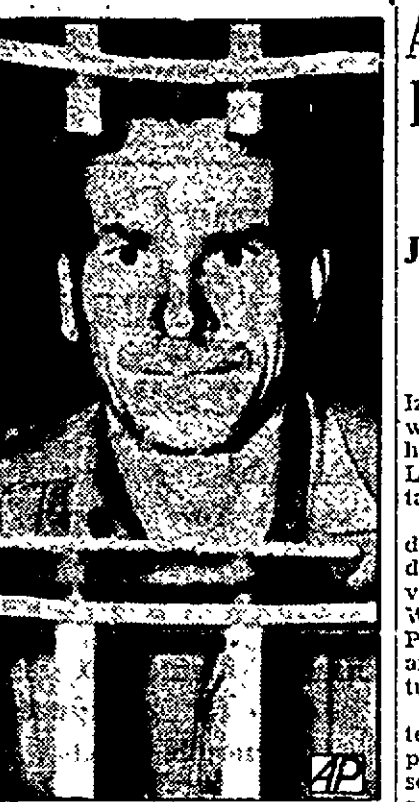

The burning of villages was said to be continuing at a rate of about three a day. Stories of these burnings are accompanied by declarations from witnesses that the civilian populations were mistreated. In some cases these "atrocities" told of natives being tortured, women assaulted and men being burned alive.

In trying to group up these stories, I visited a group of five villages east of Peking, where all but all huts had been reduced to burned shells. The ruins were deserted. Animal carcasses were strewn about, carts were wrecked, wells were polluted and human skeletons were lying in the road, eaten by wild dogs.

HELD IN SLAYING OF YOUTH.

Mrs. Phoebe Whaley (left), 45, was held in jail at Shell Lake, Wis., while Federal agents investigated her story that Everett Phinn (right), 51-year-old woodsman, had killed Raymond Washkuhn, 17, high school senior, because of jealousy over her. Washkuhn, who roomed with Mrs. Whaley, was shot to death a few days ago. The woman is being held on a charge of adultery.

HELD IN SLAYING OF YOUTH.

'Never Had Courage to Live Decently,' Slayer Asserts Before His Execution

Columbus, Ohio — (V) — A convict who admittedly "never had the courage to live decently" left behind today a 650-word indictment of society and the penal system which sent him to the electric chair.

Everett Jones of Springfield, Ohio, amazed a score of witnesses in Ohio penitentiary's death house last night when, in a subdued but firm voice, he read for five minutes from a prepared statement.

Then he calmly seated himself in the electric chair and received the supreme penalty for shooting to death Robert Lindsey, pool room proprietor, in a holdup last July 4.

"Ohio, I am a product of your prisons," read Jones, who spent 19 of his 33 years in penal and correctional institutions.

"Who can blame me?" he asked. "The very fact that I hated these things shows I was fundamentally decent. The robberies I committed outside were moral protests. I felt that society had treated me rottenly."

"I saw around me a lot of lucky, indifferent people, outside of prison only by the laws of chance."

Blames "Tensions"

The doomed man said that "somehow, I have never considered myself entirely responsible for the robberies that sent me back to prison," explaining that "tensions far beyond the power of any human being to withstand were forced upon me."

"If only I had had a single understanding friend when I was young," he exclaimed, "if my mother hadn't died, if my father had been a pal, with just a minimum chance I could have made a comfortable place for myself in the world."

Jones expressed belief that in the "near future" a more humane method of penology will be evolved and "it will not then be necessary to lock thousands of men in cells and permit them to rot their days away in idleness."

Jones termed his death a "crucifixion, not an execution," contending "I have given my life for a friend."

Walter Barnes, 19, who assisted Jones in the holdup and received a life sentence for second degree murder, informed the state clemency board a week ago that he killed the pool room operator, but the board refused to believe him.

Fascist Gains in Spain Indicate End of Conflict

one pushing east from Huesca and the other northeast from Pinar, converged on Lerida, key city of Catalonia.

Captured Bujaroloz

General Franco's troops captured the important city of Bujaroloz in the advance along the Pinar-Lerida highway. Fraga, 25 miles to the east on the Catalan border, became the next objective of this force.

It was believed the capture of Lerida would doom Barcelona, capital of the Spanish government.

In all, the insurgent front was extended more than 125 miles from Huesca to the Bergantes river.

Insurgent forces in the Guadalupe river area 25 miles south of Alcaniz captured the towns of Castellote, Aguaviva and Mas de Las Matas. At the latter town, three government pilots were taken when they landed, not knowing it was held by insurgents.

Planes Attack Troops

Attempts by government troops to reestablish defense lines in Aragon failed, though thousands of recruits were rushed to the front.

The insurgent advance was supported by tanks, artillery and aircraft, which were particularly useful in clearing the way southeast of Huesca. In this sector the government put up the most determined resistance.

Government aviation, although it was shy many planes after combat Thursday, returned to the air and machine-gunned two bodies of insurgent troops on a highway near Zaragoza. These troops were reported moving up to replace weary insurgents.

MASS DEMONSTRATION

Paris — (V) — The general confederation of labor of 5,000,000 French workers ordered out its followers for a monster demonstration today to back its industrial strikes and political demands with a show of numerical strength.

Posters summoning the meeting for 3 p. m. (10 a. m. E. S. T.) at Buffalo stadium protested the "diabolical prolongation of the tragic comedy of non-intervention in Spain, the position of the anti-peoples front in the senate, and above all the policy of provocation and resistance of employers to collective contracts."

The government of Premier Leon Blum, who draws much support from his peoples front ministry for labor, attempted to restrain his own supporters by organizing a series of conferences of workers and employers to draft new union contracts and cut short the strikes.

Premier Blum barely averted a ministerial crisis yesterday when the cabinet bowed the senate on financial measures. The senators were determined, it appeared, to force Blum out in favor of a national union cabinet.

The strike movement remained static, with 26,720 workers still occupying Citroen automobile factories, two brake factories, a plane factory at Le Mans, Moulineaux and minor metal works.

Strikes which first were called at Paris and Lille to prevent what was declared a rightist plot to overthrow Blum and substitute a dictatorship "public safety" government such as has ruled France in some of her greatest crises, took on a social tinge with demands for concessions from employers.

Among these demands were new collective contracts.

Labor difficulties in industries working on national defense supplies caused concern. Recently employees were appealed to for overtime work on army, navy and air corps orders.

The number of strikers increased to nearly 30,000 when additional employees of the Nieuport plane factory joined their comrades.

A foundry at Saintoum stopped work, a liquid air plant at Champigny sur Marne was occupied by workers and a brake lining factory at Epinay was taken over.

Three Await Death in Pennsylvania Prison

Bellefonte, Pa. — (V) — Twenty-year-old Ralph Hawk, convicted of the "torch murder" of the mother and sister of his sweetheart is to die Monday with two others in the Rockview penitentiary electric chair—barring last minute reprieves.

The Franklin county youth confessed the killing of Mrs. Hazel Gelwick and her daughter, Helen, 15, who perished in their flaming bungalow at Marion on New Year's day, 1937.

He told a constable he was "sorry" he had sought to escape what he believed was an obligation to marry Kathryn Gelwick, who disappeared at the trial she was an expectant mother.

Fred Reibaldi and Albert Gregg, alias Russell Wilson, of Philadelphia, are the others awaiting execution. Reibaldi, 27, a paroled convict who was known as the "stop-light" bandit, was convicted of slaying Maurice Handloff, a Philadelphia patrolman.

Gregg made no defense at his trial to the charge of killing C. Morgan Knight, 28-year-old Philadelphia bond broker, during the holdup of a department store.

Gregg is a former resident of Milwaukee and had been paroled from the Illinois state penitentiary at Joliet in 1934.

Schneider Asks More Funds For River, Harbor Projects

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

Washington — That seven harbor and waterway projects in Wisconsin will be seriously handicapped unless the appropriation authorized is considerably larger than the $30,000,000 recommended by Congressman George J. Schneider, Appleton, told the rivers and harbors committee.

"I understand that there is at least $9 million dollars required to make the necessary improvements for authorized projects during the next fiscal year," Schneider said.

The budget's recommendation of $30,000,000 does not take into consideration or provide for the smaller projects such as those needing improvement in Wisconsin, Schneider believes.

Except for the Sturgeon bay-Lake Michigan ship canal which is a connection between Green Bay and Lake Michigan accommodating bulk shipments and carrying the other Wisconsin harbors are small projects, although accommodating a great deal of commerce, according to Congressman Schneider.

Former authorizations, he pointed out, were as follows: In the 1935 rivers and harbors act, Manitowish outlet harbor—$77,000; Sturgeon Bay-Lake Michigan ship canal—$1,375,000; in the 1937 act, Manitowish inner harbor—$115,000; Big Saumiceau river—$20,000; Washington Island harbor—$67,000; Wausau harbor—$31,500; Green Bay harbor turning basin—$27,000.

Asked 50 Years Ago

"Improvements of the inner harbor at Manitowish have been asked for as early as 50 years ago, and over this period it has been maintained constantly by taxes from the local interests and home owners," Schneider stated.

"Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent on this harbor to maintain it for the benefit of not so much local commerce as interstate commerce."

"This harbor accommodates car ferries, interstate shipments of grain, materials for their cement plants and the finished product, shipyard and various other interests."

"Local interests are unable to maintain it and commerce is handicapped."

To a large extent, improvements in Wisconsin waterway projects accommodate the smaller interests.

Burglars Wreck Furniture

Milwaukee — (V) — Burglars who found no money in a safe at an American Express company branch office early today wrecked furniture and fixtures, overtopping a counter and smashing an electric clock. Travelers' checks for $3,700 and an adding machine were taken.

Are You Fair Minded?

To those square shooting voters who like to know both sides of an issue, here are the facts about Appleton's streets.

To remove snow and maintain in good repair under all conditions 100 miles of city streets (approximately the distance from Appleton to Milwaukee) requires good equipment and lots of it. Especially with the extremely bad weather conditions of the past winter.

EQUIPMENT IS OLD AND WOEFULLY INADEQUATE. Although this equipment is constantly kept in condition as well as is humanly possible, during one storm 50% of the snow fighting units broke down after 3 hours bucking rain soaked drifts. With such handicaps the best service cannot be expected.

ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT DOES NOT BUY EQUIPMENT. The city council budgets, authorizes and limits the activities of the street department. Of the $58,000 received annually from State Gas Tax, presumably for city streets, the Department gets only $31,500 in 1938. Practically none of which goes for new equipment.

UNSEASONABLE WEATHER HARD ON UNPAVED STREETS. Letters on file from neighboring cities claim that last winter was the worst in years for damage to streets. Appleton residential streets are being cleaned and repaired as rapidly as time and equipment will permit.

Some would place the blame for street conditions on one man. Is this not an injustice? Only a man with years of experience in handling men and antiquated equipment could overcome these handicaps as well as Schindler has done. He deserves your continued support.

Launch New Drive To Lower Traffic Deaths in State

Highway Department Urges Law Officials to Use Necessary Legal Steps

"Take any legal steps you feel necessary to stop traffic slaugthers," the state highway commission urges Wisconsin law enforcement officers in a letter sent out this week. "Feel confident that public opinion is with you in this campaign."

Copies of the letter have been received by Sheriff John Lappen, Chief of Police George T. Prim and County Traffic Officers Charles Steidl, captain, Jack Frenz, Ronald Decker and William Glashen and Sergeant Carl Radtke, head of the city police traffic division.

Nearly 100 deaths from automobile accidents were recorded in the United States over the last week-end, with 4 of these fatal accidents being listed in Wisconsin. Wisconsin has had a reduction in fatalities for December, January and February, and the state highway commission reports that the first three weeks of March also have seen a reduction.

"Apparently the arrival of spring has brought a renewal of the traffic slaughter," the highway commission's letter points out. "The state-wide campaign for strict enforcement, started Jan. 1, must not be allowed to lag. We must stop accidents before they happen. No officer who makes a courteous and sincere effort to reduce accidents by keeping traffic flowing smoothly and safely will find his labor wasted or unappreciated."

The Dog Owner and His Dog

—BY ALLAN KERR

Lock 'em up, tie 'em out or fence 'em in; do something to keep your dogs from roaming around on other people's property during the months of April to September, inclusive, for that is the period set by most city ordinances in this area for all dogs to be confined.

Even though there were no laws to legally guide the conduct of you and your dogs, it would still seem the sporting thing for you to respect your neighbor's wishes, which are seldom unreasonable. Your hobby may be dogs, while his is gardening. Both are worthwhile and both may be carried on in harmony. It must be very discouraging to pay out hard-earned dollars for bulbs and seed, put in many back-breaking hours getting them nicely started, only to wake up some morning to find the tender little plants dug out and replaced, efficiently if not neatly, by an old shoe and a couple of well polished beef bones. Do you think anything would start a neighborhood feud any quicker?

Although no serious damage was inflicted to property here by flood waters, the Little Wolf river at Manawa rose to its highest level in the last five years during this week, according to John Seffern, manager of the Wisconsin Power and Light company. Four of the gates at the dam have been open much of the time the last two weeks, and the rushing waters washed out the bank in the tail race near the company's transformer just below the dam. Several loads of rock have since been used to reinforce the bank, and when the water began dropping Thursday, all danger appeared to be over. Should heavy rains arrive soon, however, alarm would continue to be felt.

Lawrence Expects "Mud-Slinging" in TVA Investigation

Morgan's Charges, if Substantiated, Will Blemish President's Record

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington—Life is a pretty serious affair nowadays in the national capital, but every now and then the tension is relieved by a bit of almost undetected irony.

There is, for example, President Roosevelt's message saying he was not opposed to a "fair" inquiry by congress into the TVA. Is it possible that Mr. Roosevelt can be harboring the suspicion that congress could ever make any other kind?

Certainly, with both houses of congress controlled by the biggest majority a major party has ever had, and with Mr. Roosevelt so much the dominant personality in what congress does and does not do, there is ground for a real concern if it be true that congress would not make a "fair" inquiry of the whole TVA. It would be significant that congress had changed its ways and how it suddenly determined to be unfair about its manner and method of conducting investigations.

Seriously speaking, one may ask when congress has been "fair" and when it has been "unfair," and if witnesses whose presence was demanded—those who were summoned to give testimony, but not invited to give advice, and conversely, in the case—were consulted, the answers would be rather uniformly to the effect that congressional committees are more unfair than fair.

When the president cries out in advance that he wants a "fair" inquiry, and when his lieutenants in congress try to fix things up so that those who have been prosecuting the TVA in public debate should not be members of the investigating committee, it is indeed establishing a precedent.

Unfortunately, the mud-slinging type of committee does exist in congress, and when his lieutenants in congress try to fix things up so that those who have been prosecuting the TVA in public debate should not be members of the investigating committee, it is indeed establishing a precedent.

The TVA inquiry will begin shortly. It will be interesting to note how the membership of the joint committee is picked. Will Speaker Bankhead consult the White House about the prospective members, or will the president send word by one of his numerous emissaries to make sure that there is a membership on the investigating committee which will insure a "fair" inquiry? That also will be President Garner's job about selecting the senate members.

Suppression of Intrigue
Here is a chance for a real public service and for a suppression of the intrigue which sometimes surrounds the appointment of members of investigating committees. No doubt, two viewpoints will arise within the committee, those who feel that the charges against Morgan should be thoroughly investigated in a judicial manner and those who will feel that to allow anything into the record that casts a reflection on his fellow directors of the TVA would be a slap in the president's face.

Unfortunately, Mr. Roosevelt has taken sides already, and he allowed a simple refusal on the part of Chairman Morgan to give information in a presidential trial to influence him. He made no other investigation of the charges. If the evidence should substantiate Chairman Morgan's charges against TVA employees of a lack of integrity or misfeasance or other wrongdoing, it will be a most unhappy moment for the president and a blemish on his record.

To save the president's face politically, it will, of course, be the purpose of his henchmen to smear Dr. Morgan and to drag all sorts of smokecreens across the hearing. TVA will present his case in the same impressive way that he handled himself before the president of the United States. Few men in public life have stood before the chief magistrate with his threat of decapitation and stood their ground so bravely. Some day, when the whole story of the TVA, with its waste, its inefficiency and its waste, its intrigue and inner political scheming is revealed to the naked eye, Dr. Morgan will stand forth as a man who had the courage to insist that the constitutional principle of the executive branch was, after all, a wise old one on the part of the founders of the republic.

Building materials, home furnishings, plumbing and heating equipment, and other products that will help persons who want to build or remodel this spring are on display.

Heckert and R. O. Schmidt are co-chairmen for the Better Housing and Home Show, held each year to stimulate interest in building.

Trenpealeau Gets O. K. On New Water System

Madison—The public service commission authorized the village of Trenpealeau, Trenpealeau county, today to build a water distribution system, reservoir and pump house to cost about $40,000. BUNION DERBY FIELD ABOUT TO START 3-MILE TREK

In the above pictures are entrants in the Inter-Club Olympics bunion derby as they poised for the start in front of the Appleton Y.M.C.A. in the twilight late yesterday afternoon.

From left to right, the hoofers are Maurey Allen, F. N. Belanger, Dr. H. K. Pratt, the Rev. John B. Hanna, E. W. Shannon, Franklin C. Jesse, and the starter, Homer Gebhardt. Not in the picture are two entrants, A. James Lytle, Jr., and Leo J. Murphy, who were putting on their hiking clothes when it was taken. Jesse won the event, finishing 5 yards ahead of the Rev. Mr. Hanna in the 3-mile walk. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Jesse Wins Bunion Derby; Defeats Rev. Hanna by 25 Yards Over 3-Mile Course

BY DON ANDERSON

Franklin C. Jesse of the Lions club, wearing a red sweat shirt, roared with open throttle down West College avenue about the time you were sitting down to supper last evening, swung around the corner in front of the Irving Zuelke building, and drew up in front of the Y. M. C. A., the winner of the annual Inter-Club Olympics 3-mile bunion derby.

Following his way along, only 25 yards behind, came the Rev. John B. Hanna of the Rotary club and the First Congregational church, a man of middle age and heavy build, who turned in a really remarkable performance in taking second place.

Jesse and the Rev. Mr. Hanna were pretty much in a class by themselves in the derby that took the boys out around the new Appleton High school and back, with a motorcycle escort so they didn't have to stop at the red lights and weren't endangered by traffic. The two were up in front during the entire trek.

A. James Lytle, Jr., and Leo J. Murphy were still strong contenders when the field came back to College avenue, after circling the new high school, and started pounding down the home stretch. But it was here that Jesse and the Rev. Mr. Hanna started kicking out. Lytle, walking under the Kiwanis club colors, finished third and Murphy, Exchange club hooper, fourth.

Time Marches On There was a lull after Murphy finished. The group in front of the "Y" waited around, wondering if anyone could have been lost. It was getting quite dark. A posse was just being organized when Dr. H. K. Pratt, who started the race, walked up, looking as though he had been for a quiet stroll around the park.

Dr. Pratt, it seems, made up his mind after a few blocks that if he wanted to see the new high school, it would be from a car window, not afoot. He left the College avenue pavement just beyond Superior street when the field was on the way out and moved over to more comfortable quarters on the sidewalk. Then he met friends, started talking, and decided that he might just as well wait until the fellows got back.

A moment after Dr. Pratt returned to the starting post, F. N. Belanger of the Lions and E. W. Shannon of the Kiwanis scuffled in tied for fifth place. It was nightfall now and out of the darkness, slapping the pavement with tired feet, came Maurey Allen of the Exchange club to take sixth place.

Lions Win Figuring points on the system used in cross country, a sport that Mr. Jesse followed at Lawrence college some years back, the Lions were first, the Kiwanis second, Rotary third, and Exchange fourth. The Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce didn't enter.

The official time for the race was 24 minutes, 59.9 seconds, according to seven or eight old timers standing around the "Y" steps after the footsore field was in. It was hailed as a new record.

The race started at exactly 5:15 yesterday afternoon. Homer Gebhardt, "Y" secretary, blew a referee's whistle. Harry Salzman, patrolman of the Appleton police department, started his motorcycle, and the derby was on.

The Rev. Mr. Hanna and Jesse leaped to the front with determined strides, swept out into the square at College avenue and Oneida street, turned left, and settled down to a stern pace.

Driving home from work or shopping along the street before supper, the good citizens of Appleton were rather nonplussed by the sight. After all, to see a motorcycle officer wave traffic aside and ignore red lights so a bunch of the city's well known men could stamp down College avenue on a wet day was a bit unusual.

ner of Locust street, fingered his lunch pail, stared wide-eyed at the procession, and probably muttered something about "people going wacky."

Turning onto Badger avenue, the pastor of the First Congregational church and the former Lawrence cross-country runner were well in the lead and lengthening their advantage right along. Shannon was walking with his hands in his suspenders. Murphy had found a queer, crouching gait that he used periodically to hoist his position in the field up a few yards, and Lytle, when he suddenly increased his pace, looked as though he were walking on eggs. The judges, who followed the derby in nice, soft-cushioned cars, agreed at a yard that Belanger showed the best form of the day.

The new Appleton High school is an imposing structure, but it was just another building to the bunion derby entrants, who had time only to look where they were going and wonder how much longer this was going to last.

Jesse Steps Out It was back on Badger avenue on the return trip, near Wilson Junior High school, that Jesse made his first bid for leadership in the race. Up to this point, he and the Rev. Mr. Hanna had been walking side by side. But the slight Lions entrant suddenly turned on the heat and in a few long reaches had moved out in front by about a yard. The Rev. Mr. Hanna retaliated by throwing his coat to Salzman who put it in his sidecar.

At the corner of Badger avenue and College avenue, one of the judges espied Lytle and Murphy cutting the corner, but the boys looked fagged and the judge forgot about it. "I'd do the same thing," he said.

At Memorial drive, Jesse began to make appreciable gains on the Rev. Mr. Hanna. But so powerful were the pastor's strides and so high his spirits that even at State street one of the men in the judge's car was willing to bet a ham sandwich that he'd win. In the last few blocks, however, tightened muscles held down the pastor's gait and Jesse, with arms swinging and cheeks ringing from the sidewalk, won going away.

Pave Way for Memorial To World War Veterans

Milwaukee—The county board's joint buildings and finance committee today cleared the way for conversion of the old court-house into a World war veterans' memorial by approving a $4,448.80 payment to heirs of Solomon J. Juncos and Morgan L. Martin for title to a center lot on the court-house site.

WPA officials have held up a $50,000 appropriation for remodeling because the title was not clear. Juncos, founder of Milwaukee, and Martin, his business partner, deeded the property for a courthouse site in 1837. Since it no longer is used for that purpose, the award was made to 65 heirs.

DIES IN MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee—(AP)—Mrs. Anne Clement Rotten, 69, who held many executive positions in city, state and national women's organizations, died today after an illness. Born in Chicago, she had made her home here 34 years.

It Is Said--

That among the crowd that gathered to hear Governor Philip F. La Follette yesterday morning in Memorial chapel, was a black, mournful looking hound who sauntered about the aisle just as President Thomas N. Barrows was about to introduce the state's chief executive.

President Barrows asked a student sitting near the front to escort the dog out. But the hound wanted to stay and braced his legs when the student tried to push him out. And stay he did, listening respectfully during the governor's talk.

That one Appleton child probably will confine its mischief to the cookie jar after drinking about $15 worth of perfume yesterday morning. The 2-year-old child weaved about his home after drinking the fragrant beverage and suffered a "hangover" in the afternoon.

Include State in New Stamp Issues, Sen. Duffy Urges

Wants Special Stamp to Celebrate North Wisconsin Centennial

Washington—(AP)—Senator Duffy (D-Wis.) had asked the post office department to include Wisconsin among any commemorative stamp issues decided upon by the administration.

He has suggested a special commemorative stamp to celebrate the centennial of northern Wisconsin next year. He told the department the celebration, centering at Wausau, deserves the recognition.

If the LaCrosse, Wis., American Legion wants one of the abandoned buildings at the Holman CCC camp, it will have to talk to regional CCC director at Des Moines, Iowa, about it.

Senator Duffy conveyed this information to R. W. Davis, chairman of the county commissioners at LaCrosse. Davis had asked the senator to use his influence in obtaining one of the buildings.

Adjournment talk is heard on Capitol Hill. This being an election year, members of congress are eager to get home.

The surplus commodity corporation has told Senator Duffy it would consider his request that it purchase more Wisconsin skunk milk powder as an aid to Wisconsin dairy interests. The corporation pointed out it has purchased 2,000,000 pounds of butter in the last month.

Wisconsin won a fight in congress this week when the house defeated from the independent offices appropriation bill, authority for the government to use butter substitutes in government hospitals.

Shortly before the house took this action Representative Crawford (R-Mich.) introduced a resolution expressing the opposition of congress to the proposed practice of serving butter substitutes in federal institutions. "It is inconsistent for the government to be purchasing butter in the open market to stabilize prices to dairy farmers and at the same time permit substitution in government hospitals of oleomargarine in place of butter," the resolution said.

The bureau of roads has informed Senator Duffy it considers the present routing of United States Highway No. 154 and the improvements made by the state commission "the most satisfactory solution of the location problem."

Duffy had inquired about reports the bureau had not approved the improvements on the route between Platteville, Wis., and Dubuque, Iowa.

The commissioner of Indian affairs notified Senator Duffy this week that final payment on the $50 per capita allotment to the Menominee Indians would be made in April. Half of the amount was paid last September and because the Indians were not in need the remainder was held up until spring, the commissioner said.

Mrs. G. R. Scherweke, Lake Winnebago, will be confined to her home for about four weeks with a fractured ankle suffered in a fall at her home a week ago.

MEXICO BECOMES CHUMMIES AGAIN

Mexico is a progressive nation in the sense that its banditry starts with little things and increases with success.

But Mexico is our dearly beloved neighbor and therefore every town and jungle and mountain wants the sunshine of our favor, the great, beneficent and unadulterated Neighborly Policy.

In the past Mexico has borrowed many millions of dollars from American people. Mexico does not believe in paying, and, under the Neighborly Policy no one ever mentions so uncivil a matter.

The $1000 Bonds which Mexico issued years ago may today be bought on the New York Stock Exchange at $20 apiece, but they are not worth that. They bring that figure just as a gamble.

We say Mexico is progressive because it started with the Caliente amusement resort only three miles below the California border and in which Americans had invested 10 million. Mexico is never lumpy, not at least in its own opinion. It didn't grab the American investment. It raised the wages of employees and prohibited the gambling which it had originally permitted and without which the Americans would never have built. This put the Americans out of business and the government took over the plant. According to its constitution it may do so but shall make compensation. It never gets around to making the compensation.

Mexican railways were largely constructed by great sums of American capital invested by tens of thousands of people who thought of a chance to make a profit. After taking over the Caliente resort, without any remonstrance from our noble government at Washington, Mexico took over the railroads, American capital and all. Our investors are still whistling for their money.

Just as a little side issue Mexico doubled, trebled, and in some cases quadrupled import tariffs on goods, manufactured in this country. It had a chance to do business to advantage with some European nations, so it gave them the preference.

Then it started looking around for something else belonging to America to take. Why not? We never complain, or if we do, it is through an old woman who is called our Minister and who talks with his tongue in cheek.

Mexico has now taken over something like 400 million in the way of oil well machinery, equipment, tanks, vessels and the like, most of which belongs to Americans.

The greatest difficulty which Mexico faces in this situation is not being called for the banditry but to find the intelligence and energy to run the machinery.

Looking back we can all be sure that one of our greatest blunders is in providing countries like Mexico and Russia with our engineers and scientists to teach them something they could not otherwise find out in a thousand years.

But, while Mexico is stealing Americans blind we find that Washington continues to pat the little Mexican imp on the shoulder by buying her silver production at an artificially fixed price crazily high in comparison to the free world market for silver.

There was a period of over 100 years when the nations to the South of us had enough respect for America to follow its lead and accept the protection of the Monroe Doctrine.

But all of that was in those dim, unrouged, hoop-skirted horse-and-buggy days. We are much too suave and charming and lofty to adhere to such standards.

In case any nation wants anything that Americans own, all they need do is to step up and take it. Washington is paralyzed, cross-eyed, spavined and afflicted with goose pimples whenever there arises the necessity to save, protect or economize. But as to giving stuff away? The Treasury doors have been sunk in the Potomac long ago.

Just come and get it.

GRADUATES IN POLITICS

Several years ago Dartmouth college began a movement to interest its younger graduates in the field of practical politics.

Alumni from three classes were contacted to determine if they would have any interest in such a movement, and if so what party they were interested in. These men were then put in touch with other older alumni already in politics who could act as contact men.

The idea behind the move was that if democracy in this country is to be a continuing success, the better educated, better informed and more experienced of its citizens must take an active part in its governmental affairs.

It has long been a common complaint in the United States that there is no institution in this country which trains its young men for public service, that in this respect nations like Great Britain have an advantage over the United States. Often upon this lack of training is blamed the poor quality of this nation's public servants. The colleges and universities are the logical institutions to assume such a task, but again the question was how can this be accomplished.

The Dartmouth project has already met with some success. A sizeable number of alumni were referred to other alumni who could introduce them into the political life of their communities. In fact it has been considered so promising that a number of other colleges have launched similar movements.

Men of affairs in this country have for too long had the unexpressed opinion that they should not and would not be willing to participate in the actual governing of the country. This notion was passed down to college students, and became the creed of the large proportion of college graduates.

It will be interesting to note whether such a campaign as Dartmouth has originated can turn the tide in the opposite direction, and can actively enlist the younger and better educated citizens of the nation in its service.

SUNLIT LIBRARIES

Another argument is going on about some murals that have been painted on the walls of a library building. It appears that they clash with certain preconceived notions about decorative motifs that can be allowed in cloistered halls.

Centuries ago, monks toiled painstakingly over parchment and vellum, illuminating the scrolls that were the libraries of the Middle Ages.

It is well that they did so. They have left a priceless heritage to us.

But some will question why modern library buildings sometimes preserve the sepulchral atmosphere of ancient monasteries.

Are the architects wholly to blame? We think not.

The architects gave townsfolk what they thought they wanted, in a period when hundreds and thousands of mausoleum libraries were piled up, stone on stone, all over the country.

The architectural sins of two generations ago certainly can not be charged against this generation.

The cheerful thing is that librarians are humanizing libraries. Books are meant to be read. One encounters fewer librarians, nowadays, who appear to believe that they are custodians of books, who appear pained when books go out of their possession, who appear pleased when they can assess fines for delayed return of books.

There are fewer librarians who appear superior when they place the riches that are contained in books in the hands of less-favored individuals.

There is friction, always, when the old gives way before the new. If more murals are painted, it is likely that more objections will be raised.

But sunlight is being let into libraries.

BORING FROM WITHIN

Czechoslovakia, one of the bravest little democracies in Europe, is probably doomed. And the doom comes through an act which, ordinarily, would be regarded as wise and proper.

In response to demands from Germany and in an effort to prevent a war of conquest, the republic has agreed to give its German Nazis representation in the government at Prague. One-fifth of the people of Czechoslovakia, about 3,000,000, belong to the German race and have held to their German culture. Most of them, in spite of their Czechoslovakian citizenship, are Nazis, with a strong organization, affiliated with the Fatherland Nazis and apparently loyal to Germany—not Czechoslovakia.

Such an attitude would be regarded in almost any other country as treasonable. It would certainly be so regarded if a Czech or Slovak group living in Germany acted so. But Nazism is a political religion which makes its own standards. It is the nature of Nazism to regard no political bonds as binding except those of its own peculiar and arbitrary faith. Thus it is certain that the Nazis admitted to a share in the government at Prague will start immediately boring from within, plotting to split off their own section of the country from the non-German area, and calling Hitler and the German army to their aid if they are unable to accomplish their purpose peacefully.

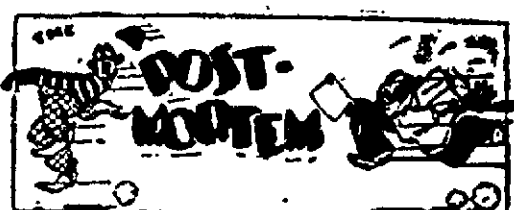

Nazism anywhere is the worm in the bud. When it is once lodged there, the flower is gone, perhaps the whole plant. This is possible as long as there is a great reservoir of conscienceless power, like that of Germany under Hitler, acknowledging no international comity, no principle of old-fashioned righteousness, no bond of liberal civilization, no will but its own cruel ambition and prejudice.

The eldest son of the kings of France was known as the Dauphin.

There are 11,500,000 women in Germany who earn their living.

Divorce is recognized under Mohammedan law when agreed upon by mutual consent.

The moon's mass is estimated to be about one-80th that of the earth.

HUSBANDS and boyfriends finally had their inning when Rose Hampton ripped through a couple arias and sparkled yon and hither at the chapel of other evening. The male sex has been cold shouldered since Jimmy Melton's visit but now the shoe is on the other foot and we can tell the ladies to wrap up their Melton in a dream package and tie a pink ribbon around it.

Previous to Jimmy Melton's appearance, I slipped into the house very quietly, sat in a corner and read my newspaper while the little woman counted the hours until she would hear his voice. After he vocalized, I was just a necessary appendage to the home and my musical inclinations were curbed to whistling. I think only the little woman's sense of sportsmanship prevented her from digging up a big game the night that Rose radiated all over the platform and proved her right to a top spot in America's singing circles.

One person down front developed a disconcerting habit of applauding the instant that the accompanist pecked at the last key. Whether he was trying to beat everybody else to the punch or wanted to display his knowledge of music will never be known but he succeeded in breaking that momentary spell at the end of every piece. The person did get caught out on a limb in one of the final numbers when the music paused and he burst into a clap solo. The soprano continued unperturbed but the atmosphere was unsettled and the effect of the melody lost.

STOO

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

YOU WERE WITH ME!

You were with me, and so I did not mind
The threat of rain, the wind's persistence.
The journey was an uphill one, designed
To try the stoutest heart. . . . You were with me;
So there was joy in hardship, and the plain
Tough crust of poverty we shared again.

You were with me, and so I had the strength
For sorrowing, and for recovery . . .
Although the shadows fell upon our length
Of stony pathway, you were there with me,
And I could summon light upon the land
Beneath the guidance of your loving hand.

You were with me! If I could know that you
Would walk beside me to Infinity,
I would not mind the winds of death that blew
Across my path. . . . If you could walk with me
I would find all along that lonely way
The Heaven that has blessed us every day.

Miss Ethel Carter, E. College avenue, will be hostess to the Novel-History club at 7:30 Monday evening, Mrs. W. H. Meeker will read.

25 YEARS AGO

Saturday, March 29, 1913
The Lave street bridge has been closed because of high water. Yesterday there was considerable stone piled on the structure to keep it from washing away by the water, which has risen to within a few inches of the flooring and it was feared that a heavy load passing over it would bend the bridge down far enough to bring the flooring in contact with the rushing water.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mory left Wednesday for New York where they will visit before leaving for the south.

Miss Jennie Powell returned Thursday from Chicago where she has been visiting the last three weeks.

WHAT COMES OF FOLLOWING IN THE WRONG FOOTSTEPS

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

I lost interest in the height of my own blood pressure years ago. The last time I noticed it the pressure was not quite as high as most persons of my age would have, if I remember. But on the numerous occasions it has been measured in recent years I have not paid any attention to the figures.

As long as my health is okeh and I endeavor to live a reasonably hygienic life, what do I care how high or how low my blood pressure may be.

What I don't know about blood pressure fills many books, I fear, and needlessly worries a lot of misguided folk. What I know about it I can tell you in a few words.

I know that no honest doctor knows enough to give you any sound advice if he knows only that your blood pressure is so-and-so. I know that the character of the diet has no direct or immediate influence on the blood pressure—and this does not imply that overeating or crackpot "dieting" is never harmful to health.

I know that the proportion of meat in the diet has no particular relation with the cause or development of the various pathological conditions of which high blood pressure may be one sign.

I know that any advice an alleged doctor hands out about avoiding "dark" meat or "red" meat or any food which theoretically or actually contains much purin (nitrogenous material from which uric acid is derived) is talking thru his hat, no matter how eminent he may be.

Sometimes I get so wrought up thinking about it all that I have a good notion to write a book about it. But so far I have staved that off successfully by hurrying over to the bowling green and getting into a game—a very good remedy for high blood pressure, by the way.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS—Farmers' Help

On receiving your monograph "Wheat to Eat" I tried to get wheat at our grocer, but he has only So-and-So's packages. . . . Please tell me exactly what to ask for. . . .

Answer—Wheat is a grain or cereal, grown by farmers. Ask for just plain wheat. If the man looks blank, explain that it is a grain or cereal grown by farmers. But don't let him suspect you're going to eat it yourself. Pretend you want to feed it to the chickens or the pigs.

If he tries to interest you in other feeds tell him no, you want one with a belt in the back. It takes a good deal of perseverance and personality, but if you grit your teeth and bang the man on the nose once or twice you will succeed eventually in buying a peck—at least I did—actually a peck of plain wheat, or a few pounds anyway. It has been done. Any one else looking for trouble—and better health? If so, send a stamped envelope bearing your address, and ask for monograph "Wheat to Eat." Don't clip this item and send it to me—I'll be so darn mad if you do. . . .

Has Dimple, Doesn't Need Crutch
My weight is normal, am inclined to gain easily, so I don't need vitamin D, but I'd like to know. . . . (H. M.)

Answer—But doesn't the drummer always wear red suspenders? Weight has nothing to do with need of vitamin D. Underweight persons may gain needed weight on vitamins, but no one can ascribe excess weight to vitamins.

Canker Sore
What is good for canker sore? I have them frequently and suffer a lot from them. . . . (M. C.)

Answer—Touch each sore once with linture of iodine—smears like everything for a moment, then seems to relieve soreness. Many times daily, especially before and after eating, use a mouthwash of warm borie acid solution—heaping teaspoonful borie acid dissolved in pint of boiled water. Avoid tooth-brush.

Your Birthday

"ARIES"

If March 27 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11:15 A. M. to 1:15 P. M.; from 3:15 to 5:15 P. M., and from 9:15 to 11:15 P. M. The danger periods are from 7:15 to 9:15 A. M.; from 5:15 to 7:15 P. M.; and from 11:15 P. M. until midnight.

Truth should be told gently this day, if you know it is going to be disagreeable to the listener. Plain statements of unpleasant facts may be difficult for the average person to digest, with the result that many dispositions are apt to be up-set. Inability to make up your mind in regard to accepting or declining invitations, or some form of activity, might have a decidedly disconcerting result this day. Words carefully spoken are apt to be construed as assumed forms of untactfulness, and cause the impression that there is no sincerity back of them. Enthusiasm might cause many tongues to wag too freely this day and let slip some very confidential information, so it will pay to think twice before talking too freely, particularly about anything told to you in confidence. Married and engaged couples as well as those upon whose courtships Cupid is smiling, ought to leave nothing to the imagination this day, especially in matters of a practical nature.

If a woman and March 27 is your birthday, do not make the mistake of discussing your personal affairs too freely. One of your greatest faults might be an overstatement of confidence in the discretion of some of your casual friends. You may be very demonstrative. To avoid many unhappy moments you will have to learn to judge people by their real worth, not by their possessions or social positions. You are likely to have a vivid imagination and a poetic nature. You ought to do well in a business of your own. As an educator, restaurateur or shop manager, artist, musician, writer, actress or interior decorator your prospects of making a great success seem to be unlimited. Marriage may make your dearest dreams become realities.

The child born on March 27, should be taught to temper frankness with consideration for other people's feelings. A good, sensible education, is important to this youngster's successful future. A thorough knowledge of social graces and usages will be helpful also. If a man and March 27 is your natal day, sooner or later, you may find yourself "worldly wise and carefree." As a doctor, druggist, chemist, theatrical producer, actor, artist, author or sales agent you may find yourself in an enviable financial position.

Successful People Born March 27:
Francis H. Storer, Chemist.
Henry S. Carhart, Electrician.

Adolphus W. Greely, Artic explorer.
Genevieve Ward, Actress.
George F. Baker, Financier.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY GEORGE TUCKER

New York — An ingenious form of ridicule (against strip dancers) has bobbed up in the terpsichorean exercises of Dorothy Humphrey and Charles Weidman who are now leisurely dancing their way across the continent.

This is supposed to be in 1980 when a war-maddened world wears gas masks 24 hours daily. They are worn in the nursery, at teas and at business. In fact, no one remembers what a face looks like. The strip tease occurs when the girl, dancing before an enthusiastic group of males, darily strips off her mask, leaving her face completely nude.

One of the nice things about being a convict at Sing Sing is that your leisure moments are well taken care of. . . . You may play handball, basketball, wrestle, box, or swing dumbbells in one of the best equipped gymnasiums in the state. . . . However, this is one thing the taxpayers can't complain about. . . . The gymnasium is the gift of H. M. Warner, the Hollywood film producer.

Loping into his office the other day an editor spied one of his reporters gazing seditly out the window.

"What is the matter with you?" boomed the boss.

"I've written a play," confessed the scribe, "but I can't think of a suitable title."

"Well, maybe I can help," suggested the editor hopefully, "what's it about?"

"It's a mystery story, Chief. It's about a reporter who is murdered in the office late at night."

"You mean right in the newspaper office?"

"That's right."

"Well, for Pete's sake! Why don't you call it Murder In the Dog House?"

One of the interesting people you meet around New York nowadays is Alexander Brailowsky, the Russian pianist, who between renditions of the Chopin cycle, likes to tell an occasional story.

It seems Brailowsky was in Vienna at the outbreak of the war, studying with Leschetizky, and because of his Russian birth was immediately thrown into prison. During his internment he came before a certain officer who treated him with marked kindness. After his release Brailowsky naturally fled the country, and it wasn't until later years that he ventured again into that city of waltzes on the Danube's shores.

Last year, after a particularly successful concert in Vienna, the same police officer, now the Chief of Police, came back stage and said to Brailowsky: "If I had known when I released you during the war that you could play like that, I would have had you interned permanently in Vienna!"

Incidentally, Brailowsky's hands are extremely large, a fact that once caused Rachmaninoff to tell him, "You have the hands of a born pianist." This was in St. Petersburg when Rachmaninoff was a Czarist supervisor and Brailowsky was a mere student. Today he has the incredible reach of an octave and a half.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—England is having the devil's own time keeping its army up to strength and is offering fancy blue uniforms with red stripes down the pants to make the more popular.

Even the Prime Minister took the matter in hand to the extent of urging in the House of Commons that no Englishman should consider himself exempt from righting public duty.

Only recently we saw a picture of a 15-year-old boy in Scottish military kilts being marched away to keep the far-flung empire intact. So harrowing is the tale that we went around to our own war department to see if they were having trouble filling up the ranks. They are not. Oh, most decidedly they are not. Like old Mother Hubbard they have so many soldiers they don't know what to do.

Until two years ago the army was limited to 110,000 men, scarcely enough to keep the barracks windows clean and the horses curried. Now the army may have 165,000 men but the trouble is that it recently climbed to 168,000. Within the next few months the total must be trimmed to 162,000 so there will be enough money to go around. That means 2,000 or 3,000 soldiers will not be permitted to re-enlist.

Depression Helped

Not in years has the army had trouble filling the ranks and the past and present depressions have piled up long waiting lists at the recruiting offices.

As a matter of fact, the depression has been somewhat of a blessing to the army. Many high class men enlisted who otherwise would have found better paying jobs in private industry.

Regardless of the pressure of enlistment applications, the army has sought to make the life of the private a bit more attractive than in years gone by. In 1927 the ration allowance was increased from about 36 cents a day to 50 cents a day. That sounds like relief allowances but it provides better than average "chow" when men are fed in large numbers. Pie, ice cream, beef steak, chicken (occasionally), and fruit are on the army ration list to augment harder and less expensive fare, such as potatoes and pork.

In 1934 an additional egg a day per soldier was added and for soldiers on duty in Alaska 10 ounces of reindeer meat is allowed daily, to change off with beef. We haven't sent any soldiers to our newly claimed South Pole possessions but doubtless 10 ounces of penguin meat will be added when the time comes.

Before the war soldiers were permitted to wear blue uniforms with fancy red and yellow trimmings but they went out with the war and never have been tested.

Sailors Better Paid

Soldiers are required to wash their teeth and shave, but strangely enough the army makes them buy their own tooth paste and razor blades. The common soldier gets $21 a month and that includes about half the army. Increases ranging from $3 a month on up to pay of $157 a month for master sergeants go to the balance of the army. Of course all get food, clothing and quarters, with sheets on the beds.

The army never has been able to explain why, but sailors in the navy are better paid. It used to be that sailors got more money for food. That is evened out now. But a sailor, after three months service, gets $36 a month in addition to food, clothes and hammock

Drive Further at Less Cost Using Parts From Jahnke

Reliable Wrecking Company Offers Full Stock Of Useful Items

Car owners are assured of many more miles of travel at substantially lower cost when taking advantage of the variety of services relative to car repair and upkeep which the August Jahnke Wrecking Company has featured for over seven years. Many automobile repair bills are needlessly high, this firm points out, because too often new parts, for example, used in replacement of old and broken parts, were unnecessary purchases because this firm's stock of low cost used parts could have been substituted without sacrificing in the least the quality of the repair job. The parts which Jahnke's salvage are all exceptionally serviceable and often have experienced little wear for many of them are removed from practically new cars which are made useless as the result of an accident. If you find that buying car parts and servicing of your car are important items in the upkeep, you will be able to save considerably by using Jahnke's good, used parts.

The Jahnke's firm's long list of services which motorists have found to their advantage include new and used parts, accessories of every description, including everything from window glass to trunk carriers, the selling of good used tires at a substantial saving, the rebuilding and repairing of damaged cars by expert repair men, skilled in this trade, the selling of used cars, modern towing service, and its daily employe service being open until 10 p. m., including Sundays. Must Decide Soon If Memorials are Planned in Spring

Twin City Monument Works Points to Need For Early Selection

Those people who are considering the erection of a memorial on the family burial plat in time for Memorial Day will be wise to contact the Twin City Monument Works, 301-307 Main street, Neenah, during the next few weeks to avoid any disappointment resulting from placing an order too late for completion and erection on this eventful day. Unless the design and material are selected and ordered soon, your tribute can have no assurance of completion by Memorial Day, according to the Twin City firm, manufacturers and designers of high grade memorials and mausoleums.

This firm reminds, too, that there is no more logical time to secure a memorial than during the present spring season before Memorial Day. On this day in all communities, cemeteries, as you know, become centers of special interest and attention. To them come many persons in pilgrimages of memory and devotion. At the shrines—memorials of those whom they knew these people stop in respect and remembrance. While a memorial serves you through every day and every year, it is outstandingly useful on Memorial Day for it demonstrates particularly your devotion, pride, and love and marks for the many who visit there the name and the history of the departed.

The Twin City Monument Works' memorials are known for their exceptional beauty and practical design, the high quality of the materials used, and their reflection of the splendid craftsmanship shown by its builders. The designs and plans offered by this firm are the products of the nation's outstanding memorial artists and designers. The materials of which the memorials are constructed come from the world's most famous quarries and are of certified durability and quality.

If you are looking for a memorial that will give the greatest return for your investment, the Twin City Monument Works can help you. Inquiries are invited and no call will obligate you. Its offices may be reached by phoning Neenah, 930-W.

Protect Yourself With Employers' Auto Insurance

Need for Auto Protection Increases With Spring Driving

Spring, increased driving, sudden storms, and changes of weather... all of these are characteristic of spring, particularly in its early stages when car owners feel the urge of making longer drives, confronting any type of climatic condition. In truth, these are dangerous driving days, because sudden changes of this nature find drivers often mentally and physically unprepared to meet them.

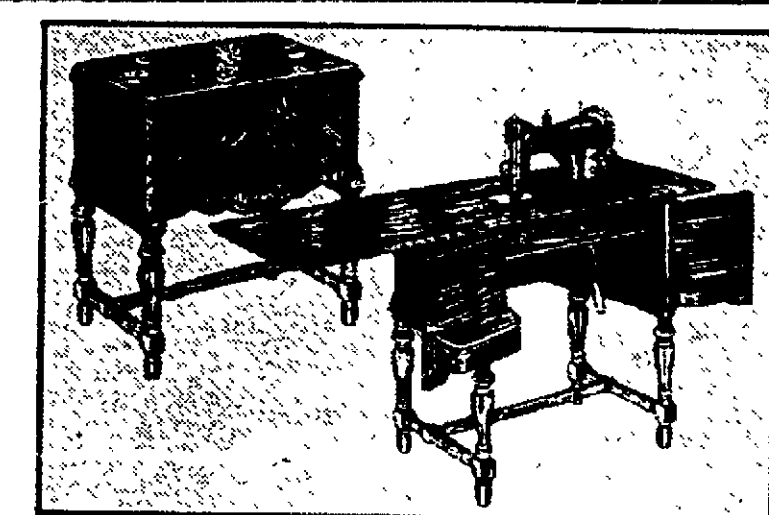

The proportion of accidents at this time of year increases. With spring in the air the call of the open road tempts one to "step on it" and pay more attention to the water-filled fields, overflowing streams, and the budding trees and less attention to the bumps in the roads and poorer driving conditions, making driving more dangerous. The need for complete and fool-proof protection is, of course, evident, perhaps more so at this time of year than at any other time so it becomes necessary for the safeguard of your family and yourself to check up on your automobile insurance to make sure that it gives you complete and sufficient protection.

The cheapest automobile insurance, experience has told thousands of motorists, is insurance with a reliable company, paid for at standard rates. The most liberal contracts, containing the broadest provisions, have made Employers' Mutual's policies models in protection, its experts point out. Moreover, because it is a mutual company, policyholders each year receive substantial cash dividends.

Loss hazards are constantly observed by this firm and their coverage is provided for the moment they develop. Its safety engineering service is recognized as one of the most active in the United States and its achievement in accident prevention is notable.

An Employers' Mutuals policy holder is thereby materially benefited because substantial reduction in premium costs are made possible through its improved experience ratings. Employers' Mutuals then, too, are specialists in complete protection—complete workmen's compensation policies meeting every requirement—complete liability policies covering every hazard to which a policyholder automobile policies covering every risk of loss in the operation of an automobile, these being a few of the outstanding services of the company. Fire insurance is also written by the Employers.

Its automobile insurance policies, accordingly, are free from the customary loopholes and "joker" clauses so often found in cut-rate policies of many other firms in order to offer bargain prices. A holder of an inferior type policy is subjected to the risk of some day losing his life's savings because of some accident which his policy con-

Hobart Domestic Club Celebrates 24th Anniversary

Royalton—The Hobart Domestic club was entertained Friday at the home of its president, Mrs. Oscar Haight, in honor of the twenty-fourth birthday of the club, which was organized March 26, 1914, by Miss Joanna Miller, now Mrs. Hendrick of Stevens Point, who taught in that district at that time.

Hobart school also is one of the oldest rural school districts in Waupaca county. It was founded in 1857 and the building was erected in 1858.

Hobart Domestic club has played an active part in the educational, social and patriotic life of that district. Every woman in the Hobart district is eligible to membership. The club meets every two weeks at the homes of its members and sometimes at the schoolhouse. A short business session is held at each meeting followed by an informal literary program.

The remainder of the afternoon is devoted to hand work by the individual members or for the hostess. At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments are served by hostess or picnic style. The welfare of the school has had a foremost place with the club, and members have done much for its betterment by way of equipment, such as an oil stove, cooking utensils dishes, flag, gas lights recently replaced by electric, curtains for the stage, help pay for folding chairs, piano, cupboards and other articles. Special treats of candy, nuts, ice cream and lemonade have frequently been given the school children at close of the year.

During the World war the club did much Red Cross work. The Near East Relief and United States flood sufferers came in for a share of attention both by money and shipments of clothing. The club has frequently contributed money to help defray expenses incurred in the Decoration day observances held at the schoolhouse and little cemetery in that district.

Over 1,500 Inspect New Menasha School Building

Menasha—More than 1,500 visitors inspected the new Menasha High school building Friday during the open house hours despite the inclement weather. Open house and inspection is being continued this afternoon and tonight, as well as Sunday afternoon and evening between 2 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon and 7 and 10 o'clock in the evening.

The rooms of the new building were especially beautiful yesterday with baskets of flowers sent by local businessmen, contractors and friends of the school, along with their congratulatory messages.

About 300 visited the building during the afternoon and approximately 1,200 people in the evening kept the 40 guides busy showing them about the building. The Menasha High school band played a concert during the afternoon and evening and will repeat its performance today and tomorrow.

Out-of-town visitors

Not only has the new building been of interest to Menasha citizens, according to F. B. Younger, superintendent of schools, but visitors from Menomonie, Wis., Green Bay, DePere, Kaukauna, Appleton, Neenah and other surrounding communities were in attendance. Even larger crowds are expected for the last two days of the open house. Club Proposes Award for Most Courteous Policeman

Neenah—An unprecedented proposal, awarding $25 to a Neenah or Menasha policeman selected as the most courteous and gentlemanly officer in the performance of his duties during the year, is planned by the Neenah Kiwanis club as one of the third annual Twin City Home show projects, according to a notice forwarded to members of the club today.

The home show will be staged Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 7, 8 and 9, at the S. A. Cook Armory.

The $25 reward to the most courteous policeman in the Twin Cities would be the headline event in home show contests, $85 being awarded in cash for other contests as well as several hundred dollars worth of merchandise which has been contributed by Neenah-Menasha merchants.

The notice said, "Courtesy costs the taxpayers nothing. An officer's ticket delivered to an erring citizen with a smile of regret is as effective as one thrust from a scowl aimed a blast of talk.

To stimulate worthy and courteous conduct among Neenah-Menasha police officers, 40 strangers as well as local citizens, would be the purpose of the award. The award would be made at the closing night of the home show and be determined by a committee and based upon the verified written reports of actual incidents occurring during the last year, the reports to be inserted the first two nights of the home show in a box provided by the committee.

"After all, we have a fine set of officers and a bit of favorable publicity would not be amiss."

All other plans for the home show have been completed. All booth space has been sold, and the entertainment has been booked.

Battle Looms Over Will Of Farmer in Michigan

Detroit—A legal battle loomed today over the will of John P. Earlow, 76-year-old retired Lenaue county farmer who died March 18 and left his estate of $45,000 to the state of Michigan to retire part of its debt.

Colonel Barlow, chief assistant corporation counsel for Detroit, and his brother, Edwin E. Barlow, cousin of the former farmer, said they would seek to set aside the will on the ground that it was illegal.

"If our cousin had named some specific state institution, then the will would be legal," asserted Corporation Counsel Barlow. "The will failed to mention any such institution and we can cite law to show it will not hold up in the court."

Walter and Edwin are aged 83 and 88, respectively. Barlow operated a farm at Tecumseh, Mich.

Jap Government Plans to Control Electric Industry

Parliament Passes Measure To Take Over Power Plants

Tokio—Japan took a long stride toward a dictatorial government today as parliament passed a measure placing the nation's entire electric power industry in the hands of the government.

Passage culminated 36 hours of continuous debate which at times exploded into acrimonious exchanges and scuffling on the floor of the diet (parliament).

General Gen Sugiyama, war minister and one of the bill's strongest proponents, declared the concentration of authority was necessary in case of war.

The two houses of parliament were deadlocked over the electric power bill. Early as adjournment neared, but passage was facilitated by an extra day's grace which Emperor Hirohito granted in an imperial rescript.

Under a government threat to dissolve parliament if the measure failed, the diet gave a joint committee of the house of peers and the house of representatives final decision on the bill.

The committee reached a compromise which the government accepted.

The finance ministry at the same time announced revision of its foreign exchange regulations.

Starting April 5 government permission will be necessary for the following transactions:

Purchase or sale of foreign exchange in Japan; sale of Japanese yen, the unit of currency, in foreign countries; remittance of cash to foreign countries; export of securities; coupons in foreign currency; issuance of letters of credit, and telegraphic transfers of money.

A finance ministry statement declared the purpose of the regulation was "to stabilize the market by controlling exchange transactions."

Farmer-Labor Relations Are Sour in California

San Francisco—Hope of banding the farmer and the wage-earning laborer together for political unity in this part of the country must yield to the fact that the farmer and the hired man have undergone a change. The Si Perkins model of farmer and Ole, the hired man, might have had some mutual interest at one time, but Si Perkins long ago became a "souless corporation," with a board of directors in a big city, possibly Chicago or New York, and Ole is joining the hayshakers' union to fight for overtime and his Sundays off.

They are no more congenial than Mr. Tom Girdler and the steel workers' organizing committee, and the idea of their joining hands for mutual advantage is grimly humorous.

The farm is known nowadays as a farm-factory. It is organized, economized and mechanized and owned by or allied to big business, and great corporation carries adjoin the groves and fields, which are operated in units of from a thousand to ten thousand acres. An organization of small farmers and industrial and agricultural labor has estimated that California's largest bank, the Bank of America, farmed 500,000 acres in 1933. Other corporate farmers, not exactly hicks, include the California Packing Co. and Libby, McNeill and Libby.

The same brief sets forth that the great farming interests control one-fourth of the total productive acreage all embraced in a mere 2 per cent of the total number of California farms, and that by connivance of state officials many urban relief recipients are dumped on the countryside so that they may be available to the farming companies in times of urgent need at distress wages.

The condition of the migratory sod-buster and picker who tin-cans it from crop to crop, following the seasons, has not been adequately dramatized, although John Steinbeck gave a glimpse of his story "Of Mice and Men," and may spit on his hands and become the Charles Dickens of the California country slums.

No Longer A Problem That Can Be Shrugged Off

These people are mostly Americans of old physically and economically impoverished stock, and it is no longer possible to shrug off the plight of the picker on the ground that he and his family are Mexicans or Orientals and therefore ineligible for honest American sympathy.

The Associated Farmers of California, an organization of big and little farm owners and operators, has threatened to boycott San Francisco and shop elsewhere for the members' machinery and all such tackle as farmers buy in cities if the business men and labor leaders cannot put an end to the incessant lockouts and battles, mainly inter-union and intra-union fights over jurisdiction and dues, which have made San Francisco an unreliable shipping point. These unions, however, both A. F. of L. and C. I. O., are so blind from rage and blood pressure that the union dictators are in a mood to tear the town apart rather than yield anything to each other. Union leaders hate other union leaders much worse than they hate employers.

The associated farmers threaten not only to buy elsewhere but to ship through some other port, presumably Los Angeles, while they were on the subject of obstreperous unions in the city they made the point that they could not

Coeds From Appleton, Vicinity Figure in Lawrence Sorority Activities

Rain Fails to Dim Spirit at College Prom

DRIVING rain failed to keep several hundred students away from Lawrence college's first junior prom Friday night at Alexander gymnasium, and the event was termed a success. A canopied walk protected the formally clad couples as they made their way from the driveway to the ballroom, and indoors there were soft lights and gay decorations that made the storm outdoors seem immaterial.

At about 10 o'clock Martin Bridgeman, Winnetka, Ill., king of the prom, and his queen, Miss Betty Scott, Oak Park, Ill., took their places at the head of the grand march which officially opened the prom. Miss Scott, a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority, wore a gown of white flowered tulle.

The gymnasium was transformed into a Manhattan night club for the party, with the orchestra playing in a modernistic shell, and a New York skyline forming the wall decoration on the other side of the dance floor. The bar, at which soft drinks were sold, was made of black panels, decorated with silver top hats and canes.

Among the dinner parties which preceded the prom that given by Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity for members and their guests at the Hearthstone Tea room. Members of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity and their guests had dinner at the Valley Inn, Neenah.

Board Surveying State Industries

Undertakes Study of Historical Development, Future of Manufacturing

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—An often repeated complaint that industry is moving out of Wisconsin, which becomes especially prominent during political campaigns, may be answered by the state planning board when it completes a study of the historical development and the probable future of manufacturing industry in Wisconsin.

Constant surveillance by numerous state inspectors of the state department of agriculture was a grievance harbored by many farmers against the old department, Rohan declared. Now, with a reorganization and new executive personnel, little is being done to remedy that grievance, the Kaukauna legislator whose outspokenness has been a by-word in several legislative sessions maintained.

Rohan prophesied failure for the coalitionists who hope to elect a state officer ticket this fall. He favors a legislative coalition campaign.

Democrats in Outagamie county, Rohan reported, are under the impression that Senator John E. Cashman of Denmark will be a Democratic candidate to oppose George J. Schneider in the fall congressional elections.

In a painstaking analysis of Wisconsin's future prosperity, the board's experts are studying 40 industries in the state which together account for 80 per cent of the manufactured products in Wisconsin.

The board's project entails a comparison of the growth of those industries with similar enterprises in other states, the state's present industrial resources compared with those in past years, and as far as is possible, a forecast of what the future holds in store for Wisconsin business men.

Especially significant will be certain phases of the report. For example, the Wisconsin paper industry, a good share of which is concentrated in the Fox river valley, has lately felt the pressure of competition from newly established mills in the south, and before that on the west coast. Each year farther removed from the source of their raw materials, Wisconsin paper and pulp manufacturers have been looking for ways to improve their competitive position, as exemplified in recent protests to state and federal regulatory boards against "unfair and unreasonable" transportation charges.

Approves WPA Project To Put Files in Order

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

Washington—The president has approved a $7,122 WPA project sponsored by the Manitowoc county board, to provide employment for needy professional, educational, and clerical persons in indexing, preparing up to date official records and files of the county, according to Congressman George J. Schneider, Appleton.

The work contemplated is not a formal activity of the county board, and no regularly employed personnel will be displaced. The completed records subsequently will be maintained by the sponsor.

New Farm Board Is No Better Than Old One, Rohan Believes

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)

Madison—Assemblyman William M. Rohan of Kaukauna, visiting the capitol Friday on errands of his constituency, observed that the Democrats in his neighborhood are looking for an Eighth district congressional candidate for this fall, that the coalition movement now being promoted by some Democrats and Republicans in Wisconsin will be abortive, and that the new department of agriculture is little better than the old one.

Constant surveillance by numerous state inspectors of the state department of agriculture was a grievance harbored by many farmers against the old department, Rohan declared. Now, with a reorganization and new executive personnel, little is being done to remedy that grievance, the Kaukauna legislator whose outspokenness has been a by-word in several legislative sessions maintained.

BOOK REVIEW

Newspaper Man Describes Antics Of New Yorkers in Recent Book

By Jean Wiley Thickens

"MY EARS ARE BENT" by Joseph Mitchell.

There are times when only the most frivolous type of literature is relished. At such times don't overlook "My Ears Are Bent" by Joseph Mitchell. The author, a New York newspaper man still under 30, was born on a tobacco and cotton plantation in eastern North Carolina.

Planning to study surgery he took the "pre-med" course at the state university for four years. His college career came to an abrupt end when he failed repeatedly to pass the required courses in mathematics. He claims that this blighted his young life. Instead of surgery he turned his undoubted mental talents to writing and has been a reporter and feature writer on New York papers since 1929 with the exception of one summer when he worked as deck-hand on a freighter which put in at Leningrad and various Scandinavian ports. His description of getting acquainted with the Russian type of female "tramp" is a story in itself. Suffice to say that he prefers the American brand, no matter how hard-boiled.

Mr. Mitchell knows and genuinely loves his New York with its strange foreign neighborhoods. His men, Negroes, Italians and fat, good-natured Germans are all real and lovable individuals. One of the most laugh-provoking chapters in the book is devoted to his description of some of the steady customers who frequent a certain grill and saloon on the lower East Side, popular with newspapermen. It is entitled "Drunks" and if the reader does not derive at least one of what Alexander Woolcott inelegantly calls "belly-laughs" then Mr. Mitchell might as well make another stab at mathematics. The author remarks that he seldom drinks but that does not prevent him from appreciating the antics of those who do and "Dick's Bar and Grill" furnish enough feature material in one night to keep a reporter on his toes for a month. There is the ancient English cab-driver, nick-named "Liverpool" who conducts his business on a credit basis and waits patiently outside of the bar until his "gentleman customers" emerge, demanding to be taken home. On the way he delivers an inspired temperance lecture on the evils of alcohol. Then there is the female bookkeeper for a nearby religious publishing house who used to sing in vaudeville and who habitually bursts into bawdy song when she has reached a certain stage of inebriation. There are also two southerners who frequent the place, one of whom secedes from the union again, whenever deep in the cups. We are introduced to the cook who when questioned about the food by prospective customers, claims that it is "no good." We listen to the old printer who spends day and night holding tightly to the bar while he makes flowery speeches at the top of his lungs. A cross section of the city is represented in the clientele of "Dick's Bar and Grill."

Were Feature Articles

Probably the best chapters of the book deal with the Jewish and Negro sections of the city. Some of these appeared as feature articles in the "New Yorker Magazine" but in his book the author has expanded and improved them. He tells his readers about the Voodoo priests of Harlem who perform their sinister rites in the dark basements of Negro tenements; about the Marahua smokers who derive much the same delusions of grandeur as do the Oriental opium smokers; of the colored "Conjure Doctors" who wrap the skins of snakes about their patients' middles to cure them of various ills; of the large sale of "powdered human brains" made from talcum powder) which is the most favored "love potion" among negroes of the Black Belt.

It is obvious that young Mr. Mitchell knows his New York like the true lover, he loves it in spite of its faults. He possesses the reporter's flair for seeing and recognizing the bizarre and the ridiculous, and is blessed with the faculty for presenting it in a vivid, concise and highly amusing style. The book is frankly light and superficial in content but at the same time it has considerable worth because of his unique descriptive style. And every page is entertaining. An ideal panacea for brain-fag.

NAVY CONTRACT BID

Washington—(AP)—The E. I. du Pont de Nemours company was the sole bidder yesterday on a navy contract of 1,150,000 pounds of TNT for the navy, asking 17 cents a pound at its Barksdale, Wis. Then there is the female bookkeeper for a nearby religious publishing house who used to sing in vaudeville and who habitually bursts into bawdy song when she has reached a certain stage of inebriation. There are also two southerners who frequent the place, one of whom secedes from the union again, whenever deep in the cups. Holy Innocents basketball team of Manitowoc and St. Mary of Menasha were indulging in a basketball game at the St. Mary gymnasium last evening when the above picture was taken, but the action reminds one of a pileup on the 1-yard line of a football game. The teams were competing in the Green Bay diocesan basketball tournament and the Manitowoc squad won a 21 to 13 decision over the Menashans. No. 10, at the left is Gracz, a Manitowoc youth, while No. 5 is Bayer of Menasha and No. 5 is Kolinski of Menasha. No. 13 at the right is Eierman, Manitowoc. Chaff'n Chatter

Joe Verhagen's 298 in the Little Chute Bowling league this week set the natives looking back over the records to learn the highest game ever rolled there. It was a 299 rolled by Henry M. Jansen who now resides in Appleton and was accomplished on the Wonders alleys when located in the basement of Tony's tavern. No 300 score ever has been rolled at Little Chute.
Jerry Lamers once turned in 16 straight strikes but he started in one game and finished in another. He rolled 276, 267, 257 & 302 for a record score. Lamers and Ves Timmers have turned in 289 scratch scores. Verhagen's big total was with a 35 pin handicap. He rolled a 263 scratch.

A letter from Robert Cole, 107 Brighton drive, Menasha, conveys the information he's interested in getting several teams for a county softball league. He wants an 8-club circuit, has 3 teams lined up and is seeking 5 more.

Teams Hope to Organize For 1938 Baseball Race

KAUKAUNA — Organization of the Northern State league will be completed here Sunday afternoon when representatives from at least eight cities will lay their cards on the table.

There will be two new teams in the circuit this year as New London and Clintonville were unanimously awarded franchises at the conference held here last week. Both newcomers have parks equipped for night baseball. This will give the loop five diamonds for "p. m." play as Green Bay, Kaukauna and Kimberly also have night ball facilities.

Little Chute Hangs Fire

The situation at Little Chute is hanging fire but Art Penning, Marty Lamers and Casey Jensen, a trio of dyed-in-the-wool baseball fans at the "Chutes" community are pulling every string to retain the franchise which in other seasons has been held by the American legion post.

Kimberly is all set for a banner season of the national pastime, according to Manager "Whitey" Behrendt and his co-associates at the paper - making community. The Kimberly moguls have been "shopping" for ball players for the last six weeks and it is understood that quite an aggregation has been rounded up. Al Berduski will again pilot the Shipbuilders at Manitowoc, according to Harry Kallies, who hopes to finally place a championship team on the field. Joe Vnuuk, Ziggy Zigmund and a number of other veterans will again be back in togs along with a promising lot of recruits.

Vice President Bernard J. Neumann, long an active leader in baseball circles at Two Rivers, comes to bat with the statement that the Coal City will again be well represented. Veterans of the Foreign Wars, it is understood, will have a hand in the sponsorship of the team.

McClain Off Diamond
Green Bay, winners of the 1937 championship, will probably have a number of veterans back in the fold although Manager Bob McClain, the peppery boss 36, will be among the missing as he has decided to sever all his active baseball connections and center all attention on his oil business.

Aside from final action on the league makeup, the club representatives will elect officers for 1938 and appoint a committee to draft the split-season schedule.

Three Windups on Next Amateur Card

Green Bay Gloves Winners Among the Performers

DATE IS APRIL 7

Program to be Last of The Season, Legion Announces

THE CARD
George Steffen, Lena, Green Bay Golden Gloves champion, versus Clarence Grafenstein, Sheboygan, five rounds at 150 pounds.

Lauron Chesley, Lena, Green Bay Golden Gloves champion, versus Earl Noel, Marinette, Green Bay Golden Gloves champion, versus Peter D'Amico, Milwaukee, silver gloves winner, five rounds at 122 pounds.

Willard Hayes, Oconto, Green Bay silver gloves winner, versus Ken Allmers, Oshkosh, three rounds at 190 pounds.

Hoxey Lamers, Little Chute, versus Clifford Lutz, Appleton, three rounds at 138 pounds.

Sid Blinder, Appleton, Green Bay novice champion, versus Leon Toveen, Appleton, Green Bay novice champion in 1937, three rounds at 118 pounds.

Carlton Furst, Appleton, versus Jimmy Thorpe, Clintonville, golden gloves finalist, three rounds at 147 pounds.

THE outstanding amateur boxing card of the season has been arranged for April 7 at the armory as the final show of this winter, it has been announced by Leslie Holzer, matchmaker for Oney Johnson post of the American Legion. The card will have seven bouts, three of them going five rounds each and therefore rated as windups.

Golden gloves champions from Green Bay and three of the best lads in Milwaukee and Sheboygan will clash in the featured bouts. Three other bouts will show at least one Appleton lad and one will be an all-Appleton affair. The seventh bout will be a heavyweight tangle for the folks who like to see the fellows club each other to the canvas.

Matchmaker Holzer has exerted himself to make the final program the best of the season because last month's card fizzled a bit. The March show was rated as a good one on paper but it leaked out to be one of things and the results weren't so good. Therefore the effort to make the April card the best.

Steffen vs. Grafenstein
One of the windups will send George Steffen, Lena, who represented Green Bay at the Chicago gloves tournament, against Clarence Grafenstein, Sheboygan, who made his debut here last month with a first round win over Wilbur Kuetzman, Big Falls. Steffen is a veteran performer and well known here. Grafenstein's punching ability last month branded him a favorite and that's why he returns for a windup spot.

Lauron Chesley, Lena, who also represented Green Bay at the Chicago tournament, will meet Connie Schuempfer, Milwaukee, who won a diamond belt in a tournament there this winter. Chesley, who is managed by his father who feels the blows his son catches more rapidly this winter and now is rated one of the outstanding 126-pounders in this section of the state. The other windup will send Earl Noel, Marinette, a third Green Bay gloves champion, against Peter D'Amico, Milwaukee, a silver gloves winner. Noel hasn't appeared here in several months but he's a veritable buzz saw in the ring and tosses leather with abandon from going to gong.

Despite the fact there will be an extra round or two of boxing, there will be no change in prices, the Legion has announced. Tickets are on sale at the usual places at the usual prices.

Boston and Toronto To Continue Puck Feud

New York (AP)—The pressure of precedent rests squarely on the broad shoulders of the Boston Bruins tonight as the National Hockey league's American division winners resume their series with the Maple Leafs, International group leaders, at Toronto.

Past performances indicate the Bruins, beaten 1-0 in overtime Thursday, must square the series in this second game if they hope to come through to the title and the final round of the Stanley cup playoffs. Since 1927, no team has been able to capture a five-game in the series after dropping the first two battles.

While Boston and Toronto take up their feud again, one of the semi-finalists will be decided at Montreal, where the Canadiens are hosts to the Chicago Blackhawks. On Tuesday, the winner of this game will open the best-of-three semi-final against the winner of tomorrow night's deciding New York Ranger-New York American struggle at Madison Square Garden.

Appleton Post Office Seeks Pin Revenge in Contest Here Tonight

Defeated in the first match by 89 pins, the Appleton post office employees will be out to even things up when they meet the Manitowish postal force on Elks alleys tonight.

The Appleton contingent went down to Manitowish a couple weeks ago for a match and found it was a man short. The Manitowish gang offered one of their "subs".

"We thought they showed a real spirit of fair play until this guy turned up with a 67 in his first game," Postmaster Stephen Balliet said today. "He didn't do much better on his next one. All he'd had to do was hit at least 120 a game and we would have beaten them."

On the Appleton side will be Postmaster Balliet, Art Pirner, Earl Gochler, Art Kahler, Edward Pirner, William Kositzke, Wilmer Silberlich, Willie Horn, George Grimmer, and George Weinfurter.

Badgers Batter Mountaineers to Keep Slate Clean

Win Seven of Eight Bouts Before Record Crowd Of 11,300

MADISON (AP)—The University of Wisconsin boxing team, winning the first seven fights on an eight bout program, defeated West Virginia's Mountaineers last night and maintained its undefeated status in home engagements before 11,300 spectators, a new attendance record.

The Badgers are undefeated this year, having triumphed in seven consecutive matches. The previous high attendance at a boxing program here was 11,000.

Three Wisconsin boxers scored technical knockouts. Omar Crocker, Badger 145 pound batter, who celebrated his 21st birthday yesterday, stopped Edward Linger in 36 seconds. In a wild attempt to hit Crocker, Linger lost his balance, fell and appeared stunned. Referee John O'Donnell stopped the battle. It was Linger's first intercollegiate fight and Crocker's fifth straight knockout.

Stops Bout
Henry Strand clinched the match for the Badgers with a second round technical knockout in 1:38. Marshall Previll, blond Mountaineer 155 pounder, was unable to protect himself after Strand dazed him with numerous one-two punches.

Referee O'Donnell stopped the bout despite protests from Previll and Eddie Varcherese, West Virginia coach.

Captain Vito Schiro, of Wisconsin, allied the final "sleeper" in 59 seconds. He floored Lou Bonfill four times before Coach Varcherese threw in the towel.

Truman Torgerson, of Wisconsin, took a three round decision over the Mountaineer's undefeated captain, Sam Littlepage. Torgerson had his opponent near a knockout in the final round, once dropping him for a nine count.

Wins Decision
Although Paul Miller, of West Virginia, forfeited to Art Walsh because he was overweight, the Wisconsin 115 pounder entry won the decision in their exhibition.

Ashby Dickerson, national college champion, won his seventh straight fight after a hard bout with Elmer Bushek, Wisconsin heavyweight.

The results:
115—Paul Miller, West Virginia, forfeited to Art Walsh, Wisconsin.
125—Jim Walsh, Wisconsin, outpointed Russell Stoner, West Virginia.

135—Omar Crocker, Wisconsin, scored technical knockout over Edward Linger, West Virginia, 36 seconds first.

145—Joe Czys, Wisconsin, outpointed Charles Ward, West Virginia.

155—Henry Strand, Wisconsin, scored technical knockout over Marshall Previll, 1:38 second.

165—Vito Schiro, Wisconsin, scored technical knockout over Lou Bonfill, West Virginia, 59 first.

175—Truman Torgerson, Wisconsin, outpointed Sam Littlepage, West Virginia.

Heavyweight—Ashby Dickerson, West Virginia, outpointed Elmer Dushek, Wisconsin.

Princeton Threatens Oklahoma Mat Prestige

But Oklahoma A. and M.'s "Wonder team" they have a record of 23-0 points against 25 in an undefeated season—were still the favorites to walk off with another title tonight after the final bout, but their confidence was shaken by last night's three spectacular triumphs by the Tug-ermen. The Boxwood Barrier

By BLANCHE SMITH FERGUSON

The Story So Far: Reuben Oliver, self-made millionaire, is held to his farm in Maryland's hunting district by Judith Goodloe, a girl who doesn't even recognize his existence. Red-headed Cissy Rogers comes to dig him out, but cannot persuade Reuben to fight for his evaporating fortune. Meanwhile, tea is being served at Goodloe's Choice, and woe to the climber penetrating the boxwood hedge. Judith's heart is singing. Gary is home-

Chapter Five

Sweet Enchantment

Judith's desire to speak of the absent one was too strong to be drowned. "Have you seen him?"

"No, I was sure I'd find him here," said Dick Blout.

Judith examined the heel of her scuffed riding boot. "Gary seldom rushes anywhere."
"Since when?" A smile chased over Dick's fat face. "Unless my memory fails, he never goes anywhere at a sane or safe pace, and unless my ears are deceiving me I hear this minute someone approaching at fireman's speed."

His teasing eyes met Judith's honest ones that had not learned to wear a mask. His smile vanished. So! That was how it was! Little Judy, grown up and — in love. He sighed for his own lost

"How old are you, Judy?"
 "Twenty."
 "Feeling feeble?"
 "Not exactly."

They'll all be watching like cats

Gary's arrival was spectacular. He came dashing up the drive, on his splendid sorrel—bare-headed broad shouldered, gloriously sure of his seat.

"Hail! Cherrio! Adsum!" The crop he waved might have been a conqueror's sword.

At his clarion call the little group under the trees stirred in unison, as a wheatfield is stirred by a breeze. Languor fell from it. Everyone excepted Amanda arose to greet the newcomer.

He came on, waving, not drawing rein until he was a scant three inches from the bowing, smiling Amos. Then flinging himself from the saddle, he crossed the little strip of grass at a bound and, so all the world to see, swept Judith into his embrace.

"Judy—bless my soul, I'm glad to see you!"

Recklessly he bent his head on some head and kissed her squarely, upon her curving, red lips, "Are you glad to see me, Judy?"

'Too Long'

Had Judith been less glad to see him she might have found fault with the flavor of that kiss it was so frankly joyous, so completely a part of Gary's exuberance but caught in a great wave of ineffably sweet emotion, Judith was not critical.

"Hour ago. Couldn't wait to see you."

"It's been—a long time."

"Too long."

For the flash of a second they might have been alone in a newly created world, each discovering the miracle of the other. Gardens watching eyes, were for the time being non-existent.

"And you!" The almost tearful uncertainty of hers.

'Of Human Hearts' Coming to Rialto

Walter Huston Stars in Dramatic Story of Lincoln's Day

Gripping drama, heart throbs and comedy mingle in a story told in terms of down-to-earth human characters in "Of Human Hearts," dramatic story of Lincoln's day which brings Walter Huston to the screen for the first time since his triumphs in "Dodsworth." The picture opens Tuesday at the Rialto theatre, Kaukauna.

Gangland and penitentiary life, roaring newspaper offices in big cities, and romance in the country are mingled in a dramatic plot in "The Last Gangster," in which Edward G. Robinson comes to the Rialto theatre, Thursday, in the story of a man's term in prison and the effect on his family.

Such stage and screen headlines as Allan Jones, Judy Garland, Fanny Brice, Reginald Owen, Billie Burke, Reginald Gardiner and Lynne Carver join hands to contribute a wealth of musical and acting talent to "Everybody Sing," which opens soon at the Rialto theatre, Kaukauna, as one of the most original and infectious musicals yet to reach the talking screen.

'Girl of Golden West'

Is Coming to Rio Soon

Co-starring Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy for the fourth time, "The Girl of the Golden West," a musical panorama of early California, opens soon at the Rio Theatre.

Based upon the original stage play written and produced by David Belasco thirty years ago, the picture is presented against the romantic background of the colorful gold mine camps of 1850, the romantic missions and villages with their gaiety and music and dancing the high Sierras and giant redwoods and bandit camps.

It is the story of Mary, who runs the Polka Saloon in Cloudy Mountain. She is loved by all the boys, but Jack Rance is the favored one. On a trip to Monterey her stage coach is held up by Ramirez, notorious bandit, who falls immediately in love with her.

He follows her to Monterey and masquerades as Lieutenant Dick Johnson. Mary does not recognize him as Ramirez. In his persistent pursuit for Mary's love he is captured by Rance in her cabin. Mary and Rance play cards for Ramirez' life and she wins, but Rance has caught her cheating. She promises to marry Rance if he will free Ramirez, but before the wedding Rance again finds Mary in Ramirez' arms. He had promised to kill the bandit on sight but gives him an even chance. They circle the chapel in opposite directions, to shoot it out when they meet, but Rance disappears. He had realized that Mary loves no man but Ramirez.

Under the guidance of Robert Z. Leonard, as director, the new musical is abundant with a beautiful original score and inspiring musical numbers by Sigmund Romberg and Gus Kahn. They include "Soldiers of Fortune," "Sun-up to Sundown," "Senorita," "Shadows on the Moon," "Mariachi," "The Wind in the Trees" and "The West Ain't Wild Any More." Miss MacDonald also sings Gounod's "Ave Maria," Liszt's "Dream of Love" and "Who Are We to Say."

Heading the supporting cast are Walter Pidgeon, Leo Carrillo and Buddy Ebsen.

Charles Starrett Is

Star of Western Show

Ridin' like the wind, with his two fists flyin' and his six-shooter blazin'! Ready to slug a rustler or kiss a gal! A cow-punchin', jaw-smashin' buckaroo of the thrill-filled golden West! It's Charles Starrett in a brand new Columbia outdoor triumph, "One Man Justice," showing at the Elite Theatre today and Sunday.

Fists pound upon flesh as thrill piles upon thrill in this hoof-clattering, bullet-spattering sagebrush sockeroo! Barbara Weeks is Starrett's leading lady, and others in the cast include Hal Taliaferro, Al Bridge, Jack Clifford and Walter Downing. Paul Perez wrote the screen play. Leon Barsha directed. Starrett fights to the death to protect a woman's name and rid the range of rustlers as adventure rides high when the West was young!

APPLETON WILL SHOW 'PENITENTIARY'

A dramatic story of a warden's daughter and the prisoner she dared to love is told in Martin Flavin's moving story of the Big House, "Penitentiary," which is coming to the Appleton Theatre for 3-days starting Tuesday, March 29. Walter Connolly, John Howard, Jean Parker and Robert Barrat are featured in this film, which has been described as the season's most scorching blast of thrill. The supporting cast includes Marc Lawrence, Dick Curtis, Ann Doran, Arthur Hohl, Paul Fix and Marjorie Main. That kiss-and-make-up movie romance, "Love, Honor and Behave," is the second feature and stars Priscilla Lane and Wayne Morris. It also features that big song hit "Bei Mir Bist Du Schon."

'WELLS FARGO' COMING TO ELITE

The romance behind the building — and the maintaining — of America's first lifeline of Empire — the Wells Fargo Trail which linked the Far West with the East, is the background for the gripping love story of Joel McCrea and Frances Dee in "Wells Fargo," the cavalcade of America opening at the Elite Theatre for 3 days starting next Wednesday. The supporting cast is headed by Bob Burns and includes Lloyd Nolan, Henry O'Neill, Porter Hall, Robert Cummings and two thousand others.

Four Other Birds Come as Early as Robin in Spring

BY CLARA HUSSONG

Most people, when asked to name the first spring bird, would choose the robin and it is true that many times he is the earliest arrival in a certain spot. But there are at least four other hardy songsters who come as early as the robin, sometimes even preceding him by a day or two. Those four are the bluebird, meadowlark, killdeer and the red-winged blackbird.

There are two reasons why the robin is usually given first honors. One is that in most states robins as well as several other hardy birds often remain through the winter. This is especially true in the southern part where wintering robins are not at all uncommon.

May Be Hold-Over Through the coldest weather these hold-overs stay in sheltered spots. During a prolonged warm spell they come out of seclusion and visit farm orchards, city parks and streets. It is safe to say that any February robin you may see is not an early arrival, announcing that spring is here, but one of these hold-overs.

In the southern half of the state the time to expect the earliest spring birds is between the first and tenth of March. In the northern half they arrive between March 10 and 20. Most of these birds travel only 20 or 30 miles a day, so you can estimate their date of appearance by the latitude in which you live.

For the five years during which I have lived in Green Bay my own observations show that the average date of arrival for the earliest birds is March 15. This year they came a few days early, the fine weather no doubt speeding their progress.

Another reason why the robin is usually hailed as the first bird of spring is the fact that it is the best known of this group of early birds. Even children know his bright red vest and his loud cheery song. The other birds, being less familiar to many of us, are often missed even when they arrive earlier.

Meadowlark is Early In the years that I have kept a record of returning birds the meadowlark appears most often as the first bird on my list. Another bird watcher in this neighborhood has the killdeer in that position and still another has the red-wing. Some authorities, among them the author-naturalist, Anna Boistord Comstock, place the bluebird at the head of the list.

A few days after we've seen our first robins and meadowlarks we can watch for the song sparrow, bronzed grackle and cowbird.

'Snow White' Now On at Rio Theater

Feature-Length Animated Picture Combines Music, Artistry, Humor

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," Walt Disney's gorgeously produced musical feature-length animated picture in Technicolor, now playing at the Rio theater, has become the sensation of motion picture entertainment. It has taken its place in the front ranks of important film attractions.

In production for three years, and costing a million and a half dollars, "Snow White" is expected to establish a standard for future animated features in much the same manner that "The Birth of a Nation" influenced the epic cycle that followed.

The Disney picture is a drastic departure from previous technique in the animated field, in that living, credible beings have been created in the persons of Snow White, the seven dwarfs, the queen, the prince and other characters in the famous Grimm's fantasy. In addition, the art treatment departs radically from cartoon expression. An illustration of depth has been added through the use of the multiplex camera, an invention perfected by Disney technicians. This new camera treatment makes three-dimensional figures out of characters drawn in a two-dimensional medium.

Added interest attaches to the eight musical numbers in the feature, the outstanding hits being "Whistle While You Work," "I'm Wishing," "With a Smile and a Song," "One Song," and "Some Day My Prince Will Come."

The story relates the adventure of a beautiful young scullery maid whose youth and charm arouse the envy of a wicked queen, who plots in various ways to get rid of her forever. How the queen nearly succeeds after seeking out Snow White through a refuge among seven kindly dwarfs, and how the little heroine is finally rescued by her Prince Charming is pictured with exquisite artistry and humor combined.

is lost in the melody of other bird songs but when a flock of bluebirds sing at once the effect is unusually beautiful. Old orchards, open thickets and old meadows dotted with a few trees or bushes are the favorite haunts of the bluebirds.

Some of us may wonder what these early birds find to eat. Finches and sparrows feed on grass and weeds, or seed cones of shrubs and trees. Robins and bluebirds search the soft ground for insects, the robin scratching under the leaves and the bluebird by keeping his eye on the ground from a perch in a tree. They also feed on whatever dead berries or fruits they may find. If you are tired of your bitterness about quiet, soak the berries for a few hours in water and then throw them out for the birds.

Before they leave us for their northern breeding grounds, be sure to hear the spring song of the horned larks. Through the winter they uttered a creaky chirp from the ground where they were feeding. Now they fly high in the air, often so far up their forms cannot be distinguished, and as they swirl aloft they sing a new song, a joyous melody which comes to us apparently out of a clear sky.

'REBECCA OF SUNNYBROOK FARM'

Shirley Temple salutes the stellar cast of her streamlined, best-of-all musical hit, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm." The outstanding cast of supporting stars includes Randolph Scott, Jack Haley, Gloria Stuart, Phyllis Brooks, Helen Westley, Alan Dinehart, J. Edward Bromberg, Bill Robinson, and Slim Summerville.

"Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," which comes to the Rio theater starting Friday, is co-starring with "Mr. Moto's Gamble," the latest adventures of that clever oriental detective, again portrayed by Peter Lorre.

partly as, as usual, the screened "blow-ups" of the preceding year: those comic hits in which the nice demure heroines and stalwart heroes are caught forgetting their lines. Having Bad Time Charles Winninger's stand-in is his brother Adolph, who is retired but likes to put on grease-paint. Once the Winnings — there were five of them — each had a separate stock company. And one could take another's place in a show without the audience's being the wiser. By all reports they're not having

Now they fly high in the air, often so far up their forms cannot be distinguished, and as they swirl aloft they sing a new song, a joyous melody which comes to us apparently out of a clear sky.
